BRITISH ARMY DRIVES GERMANS

ENEMY LOSES HEAVILY AT SEVERAL POINTS

French and Belgian Troops Successful in Attacks North of Arras and on Banks of Yser Canal.

LONDON, May 17.—Field Marshal Sir John French today sent a report under date of May 17 to the War Office here as follows:

"The first army has gained further successes south of Richebourg-l'Avoue, and all the German trenches on a front of two miles were captured.

"This morning several bodies of Germans surrendered voluntarily to our troops, who continue to fight with great gallantry and determination. One of these bodies, while trying to surrender, was caught by German artillery fire and practically annihilated.

"The exact number of prisoners has not yet been ascertained, but 550 have been cleared to the lines of communication.

"On the remainder of the front there have been no incidents to report."

Sunday Night's Success

The following official statement was issued by the British War Office last night:

"The first army has made a successful attack between Richebourg l'Avoue and Festubert, breaking the enemy's line over the greater part of a two-mile front.

"The attack commenced at midnight to the south of Richebourg-l'Avoue, where we carried two successive lines of German breastworks on a front of 800 yards. A mile farther to the south another attack at dawn carried 1,300 yards of German front line trenches and was pushed rapidly on, extending its success 600 yards farther south by bombing along the German trenches. Here we crossed the Festubert-Quinque Road and advanced nearly a mile into the German lines.

"The fighting still continues in our favor and throughout our brave troops have fought splendidly.

"At Ypres all has been quiet for the past forty-eight hours, and elsewhere on the front there is nothing to report."

Enemy Driven Across Canal

PARIS, May 17.—The official communication issued by the French War Office tonight announced the capture by the British troops of several additional German trenches to the north of La Bassee, together with a thousand prisoners. In an engagement at Ville-sur-Tourbe, the French took 400 prisoners, and in an attack at the Ailly wood, carried several German works and captured 250 prisoners.

The text follows:

"In Belgium the enemy, threatened by our successful attacks of the preceding days with a complete envelopment, evacuated last night the positions which he had occupied to the west of the Yser Canal. We have, on our part, maintained all our gains on the east bank.

"To the north of La Bassee the British troops, who were very strongly counter-attacked during the night of Sunday-Monday, are victoriously continuing the fighting. Today they carried several German trenches and inflicted on the enemy very heavy losses.

"One party of several hundred Germans, caught between the fire of the British machine guns and that of their own artillery, was almost entirely exterminated under the cross fire. Our Allies have taken a thousand prisoners and some machine guns.

Other French Successes

"To the north of Arras, a thick mist has prevailed all day, preventing any important action on either side. Nevertheless the struggle continues very actively, on the slopes of Lorette especially. There we have repulsed all the German counter-attacks.

"At Ville-au-Bois, Berry-au-Bac, the enemy made an attack on our trenches, which was immediately arrested. The number of unwounded prisoners taken by us on Sunday in the fight at Ville-sur-Tourbe was 556, besides 50 wounded.

"This morning at daybreak we carried out an attack in the Ailly wood, occupying several German works; we also took three machine guns and 250 prisoners, among whom were several officers.

"In the outskirts of the forest of Le Pretre two German battalions made three attempts to sortie from their trenches, but our fire held them up short."

Fighting in Champagne

The following official communication was issued by the War Office last night:

"We repulsed this afternoon, with complete success, a fourth German counter-attack at Steenstraete. We have conserved all the positions won yesterday and consolidated our gain, the importance of which is emphasized by the violent efforts of the enemy.

"In the sector to the north of Arras we have carried out divers actions with a view to consolidating our new front. In driving out the enemy from several points, where they still were holding up, our troops gave proof in the struggle, foot by foot, of great tenacity.

"We gained 800 metres on the slope which descends from the plateau of Lorette, next to sugar refinery of Souchez. We have carried some additional houses in the northern part of Neuville, exploded a captive balloon to the east of Vimy, and our aviators have bombarded the station of Souchez.

"In Champagne, the northwest of Ville-sur-Tourbe, an action of a purely local nature has given to us a very brilliant success.

"Last night the enemy exploded a mine behind our first line. Eight German companies immediately precipitated themselves on our positions, and they gained a foothold in one salient. We immediately delivered a counter-attack and retook part of the lost ground, taking seventy-seven prisoners, of whom three were officers.

"During the course of the day we delivered a counter-attack, which was carried out with much spirit with the bayonet and hand grenades and resulted in our recapture of all of the positions.

"The enemy has suffered enormous losses—a fact which has been established by us with certainty in the trenches and on the parapets. We have found, in fact, more than 1,000 German dead, and we have, in addition, captured 300 prisoners, including nine officials, and taken six machine guns. Thus, almost all of the attacking force remained either in our hands or on the ground."

AERIAL FIGHT REPORTED

Aeroplanes of Allies Said to Have Brought Down Zeppelin Near Ghent—Two of Former Destroyed

LONDON, May 17.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Rotterdam sends an account of an engagement between a Zeppelin and a squadron of Allied aeroplanes in Belgium, in which the Zeppelin and two of the Allied aeroplanes were destroyed. The correspondent says he is convinced that the story is accurate in every detail.

The Zeppelins crossed over Brussels, travelling westward, on May 10. One of them returned alone at 8 o'clock that evening and was surrounded and attacked by the aeroplane squadron.

Many persons counted twenty-seven machines in the Allied fleet. The Zeppelin made a spirited fight with its machine guns and tried to escape by soaring, but the aeroplanes manoeuvred skillfully and gave the dirigible no chance to get away. The Zeppelin was disabled in less than fifteen minutes and it fell between Brussels and Ghent. Several explosions accomplished its fall, and all the crew of sixty are believed to have been killed. Two of the aeroplanes were destroyed and their pilots killed by the Zeppelin's fire.

SAYS ITALY'S DECISION MADE

War Is Virtually Declared According to Giornale d'Italia—Rome Is the Scene of Enthusiastic Demonstration.

ROME, May 17 (via Paris, May 18).—The Giornale d'Italia, which has been a strong supporter of the Salandra Cabinet, and was among the first to advocate military preparations, publishes a significant article today.

"War," says the paper, "is virtually declared by concord of the King, the Government and the nation. The wonderful secret dream which for half a century has strengthened Italy in its long wait, is about to be transformed into reality.

"Italy is about to engage not only in a war to liberate the remainder of Italian provinces under foreign rule, but in a war for civilization."

The Giornale d'Italia urges a union of all parties and the cessation of all conflicting passions.

"When the war broke out," it adds, "Berlin and Vienna were the scenes of savage attempts against the diplomatic representatives and subjects of the countries against which Germany and Austria had declared war. These were considered the deplorable excesses of a hysterical minority. Instead, they were the first manifestations of methods which later developed into a most atrocious war throughout Belgium, and France and on the seas.

A Sacred Duty

"Nothing of the kind must happen in Italy. The motto must be no violence against foreigners, even if they are enemies. Hospitality being the most sacred duty of a civilized people, respect for diplomacy is one of the highest forms of political civilization.

Alluding to the "imminent departure" of Prince von Buelow, the German Ambassador, and Baron von Machio, the Austrian Ambassador, the paper cites the Italian proverb: "For the flying enemy build a golden bridge."

Throughout the day the Chamber of Deupties was crowded with members, many of whom had hastened to Rome in their anxiety regarding the crisis and the imminent decision of the Cabinet. Outside the Chamber great crowds gathered, the majority of whom voiced their opinion that further delay on the part of the Government would be disadvantageous, as it would give time for the completion of preparations by Austria and Germany.

There was an active exchange of telegrams today between the Austrian and German Embassies and Vienna and Berlin.

Popular Enthusiasm

LONDON, May 18.—A Reuter dispatch from Rome says: "An imposing demonstration in favor of war was held here tonight (Monday). A procession headed by the flags of Trent, Trieste, Istria and Dalmatia marched to the capital and provoked a tremendous outburst of popular enthusiasm. The Mayor of Rome, Prince Colonna, surrounded by city magnates, delivered a warlike speech."

Preparing to Leave

ROME, May 17, via Paris, May 18.—Prince von Buelow, the German Ambassador, and Baron von Macchio, the Austrian Ambassador, are preparing to leave Rome, according to the newspapers. A special train is in readiness to take Prince von Buelow to Chiasso, Switzerland, and Baron von Macchio to Ala, in the Austrian Tyrol.

ADVANCE WON BY COLD STEEL

MIDNIGHT ATTACK PENETRATES TRENCHES

Utmost Gallantry Is Displayed by General French's Troops in Mastering Front of 1,400 Yards.

LONDON, May 18.—The piercing of the German line is thus described by The Times' correspondent sent from France under date of Sunday:

"Last night hell broke loose, and before sunrise this morning the British army had stormed the German lines at Festubert and Richebourg l'Avoue. After the failure of the 9th the situation was reconsidered, and it was finally decided for good and sufficient reasons to risk a night attack. It was necessary for General French to act in order to support his Allies, and as he was unable to emulate their example and smash the German parapets with high explosives, it was to the British bayonets that the task of overthrowing the enemy was confided.

"He had not only to provide troops for the projected assault, but to hold a long length of trenches and consider the situation at Ypres, where the German guns had been causing us heavy losses. In the late afternoon General French rode out among the troops to wish them good luck, addressing a few inspiring words.

Bayonets and Grenades

"The night was not very dark, but there was no moon and scarcely any wind. All the dispositions were made silently after dusk. We were anything from seventy to 300 yards from the enemy's front trenches, and many nasty obstacles had to be overcome. We had to depend on bayonets and grenades. It was too dark for shooting.

"Our left attacked at 11:30 o'clock and succeeded in storming the German line and overthrowing the defenders. Before long our left centre was dashing in with cold steel. It penetrated two lines of German trenches and killed or wounded most of the defenders and made good a front of about 800 yards in the German position.

"Our extreme left was less fortunate, as a maxim fire on this flank was severe and accurate. But the Indian troops on this side eventually penetrated through the opening made by the left centre, and soon began to outflank and break down the defences in front of the original left of our attack.

"As the morning dawned a severe fire was opened from supporting positions in the rear of the German line, and against these our heavy guns, re-placed as soon as the light served us, greatly aided our advance. Our artillery work was better than that of last week.

Storming the German Lines

"At 3 o'clock in the morning a fresh and formidable line of British infantry advanced on our right against the German trenches in the direction of Festubert. The men stormed the German lines with the utmost gallantry, and soon made themselves master of a front of 1,400 yards. They overwhelmed the second line, and then penetrated the reserve trenches, causing the enemy heavy losses.

"By 11 o'clock this attack had penetrated for a mile into the German lines, and promised to extend round the Germans, who still held on to their front trenches between our right and our centre attack. We had, in short, by noon overthrown almost completely the Germans on our front, and when the writer left the scene there seemed good hope that the inevitable German counter-attack would prove costly and ineffective."

NOT GERMAN METHOD

British Submarine in Sea of Marmora Shows Consideration for Supposed Turkish Vessel

LONDON, May 17.—As an evidence of the care with which British submarines act against merchant ships, even in the most dangerous war zones, The Daily Mail publishes the following dispatch from Saloniki:

"A British submarine which penetrated the Sea of Marmora stopped a supposed Turkish cargo boat and ordered the captain to get his passengers and crew off before the vessel was sunk. The captain declared that he and his crew were Greeks and that his ship had been seized by the Turks to transport Greek refugees. The commander of the submarine verified the captain's statements and then allowed him to proceed."

Reprisals Threatened

ROTTERDAM, May 17.—The Hamburg Nachrichten in a telegram from Berlin announces that it is certain the German Government will immediately take comprehensive reprisals if measures announced by the British Government for interning all Germans are adopted.

Announcement

In view of the recent demonstrations of violence, we wish to inform the public that this business is, and has for several years been owned and operated entirely by British capital.

Our local record in public matters and upon all questions of loyalty, should make unnecessary any public statement upon the subject, but to emphasize the position, we would point out that Mr. W. P. Geoghegan, of Dublin, Ireland—our chief shareholder—is at the present time providing accommodation, medical and nursing attention for wounded British soldiers entirely at his own expense, and letters received from him at recent dates contain expressions of the most earnest loyalty and desires for the success of the just cause of the Allies.

In these circumstances, we feel sure that the attack upon our premises was due to a lack of knowledge of the true facts of the position, and will be recognized as an injustice which will not be repeated.

SIR EDGAR SPEYER

Resigns Privy Councillorship and Asks Revocation of His Baronetcy Because of Charges of Disloyalty

LONDON, May 17.—Sir Edgar Speyer has sent a letter to Premier Asquith, resigning his privy councillorship and requesting the revocation of his baronetcy. The letter declares that Sir Edgar was led to this step after nine months of charges of disloyalty by the newspapers, which charges have lately culminated in speeches against him by public men.

The Globe, in an editorial published today before the letter of Sir Edgar had been made public, complained that neither Sir Edgar nor Sir Ernest Cassel, both privy councillors, had made expression of "their detestation of Germany's crimes."

It was charged by The Globe that because they were of alien birth, Sir Edgar and Sir Ernest were only permitted to legally hold their seats in the Privy Council by an amendment in the Naturalization Act, which passed unnoticed during the turmoil of last August.

No Election in Britain

No such thing as "rubber roofing".

A lot of manufacturers call their roofing "Rubber Roofing," "Rubberoid," "Rubberoid"—Rubber-this and Rubber-that. The life is all out of rubber if exposed to the daylight for six months. It would be silly to put rubber in roofing, and rubber costs more per pound than roofing mills for for a hundred pounds. There is no such thing as "Rubber Roofing" of any kind. There is no rubber in

WARNS AGAINST FALSE ILLUSIONS

Forcing of Dardanelles Is Tremendous Task Depending Upon Continuous Supply of Men and Munitions.

LONDON, May 18.—The British press representatives in the Dardanelles, telegraphing under date of May 16, sends a description of the first stage of the operations of the Allies against the Turks, which he says has now come to an end. He testified to the splendid work already accomplished by the Allies in successfully landing and establishing themselves in the face of tremendous odds. They are now before Achi Baba, about five miles up the Gallipoli Peninsula.

"This is the first of the commanding positions on which the Turko-German force can take a stand before we are able to move up the Gallipoli Peninsula and command the northern shore of the narrows," says the dispatch.

"There must be no false illusions as to the big task before the Allies. The war here is a question of how many men you can afford to lose to capture each trench and each kilometre of soil. Victory is only to be gained by more men and a continuous supply of ammunition.

Formidable Positions

"The positions already won prove that the Turk was justified in believing his positions were impregnable.

"The navy has achieved an equally fine organization for the landing of a continuous supply of men and munitions. Piers have been built out into deep water so that the largest lighters can come alongside. Roads have been cut along the cliffs to increase the area of disembarkation and a hundred devices have been utilized to assist in efficiency. At night the southern end of the Gallipoli Peninsula, formerly deserted and barren, has the appearance of one of the world's greatest ports. There are masses of lights on shore, as though several towns had sprung up, while at sea a hundred great transports and many warships are packed outside the defiant straits."

Turkish Report

BERLIN, May 17.—via London, May 18.——A wireless dispatch from Constantinople says: "The general staff in the Dardanelles reports that near Ariburnu on the 15th three enemy battalions attacked our right wing several times. They were driven back into their main positions and lost 1,500 men and much material.

"Three shots from our batteries hit British cruisers."

PROVIDING FOR THOSE WOUNDED

Militia Department Will Establish Clearing Hospital in East—Those Incapacitated Will Be Pensioned.

OTTAWA, May 17.—The question of caring for Canada's heavily wounded when the soldiers return to this country is the question that is engaging the Militia Department at present. Several small detachments of wounded have already arrived home from the fighting in Flanders. Heavier drafts will cross in the coming weeks, to pass upon the Atlantic the reinforcements which are going to take the places which they cannot occupy again.

Those who return will, in the majority of cases, be men either incapacitated by the nature of their wounds from further service, or whose nerves have been shattered to such an extent as to prevent them returning to the front. Some will be classified in the category of those unable longer to find for themselves in the struggle of life means of sustenance, others will be permitted to recuperate with the prospect of later returning to some form of employment, while others will be able to resume the work they left off when they enlisted.

Classifying Wounded

With the purpose of classifying the wounded when they arrive a clearing hospital will be established at Quebec or at Valcartier, and a staff of doctors will be placed in charge. There the wounded will be classified according to the nature of their wounds. Those absolutely incapacitated from further labors of any kind will be permitted to regain their strength at the hospital, or will be sent to the various convalescent hospitals being established throughout the Dominion. Those men will be placed on the gratuity list. Those who simply require a period of recuperation will be given the choice of remaining at the hospital or at the convalescent home where they will continue to draw pay, just as though still on active service; or if they prefer it they may return to their families. In the latter case, however, they will cease to receive pay and will at once be stricken from the active list. In such cases the Patriotic Fund Association will provide assistance until such time as they are able to work and find employment. To such as are not partially or wholly incapacitated by wounds or sickness sustained while in active service from undertaking any employment, the pension system will not apply.

Already the first installment of pensions to widows and dependents of men who have been killed in action has been passed by the treasury board.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

NANAIMO, B. C., May 17.—The management and staff of the G. S. Pearson Co. met on Saturday night at the home of Mr. William Herdman, Prideaux Street, and gave a farewell reception to two former members of the staff—Rex. Bryant and J. Beck, who will leave Victoria on Tuesday next with the 48th Battalion for the front. The two volunteers were presented on Saturday night last with wrist watches, together with an address, expressing the hope they would both return to Nanaimo at the close of the war, sound in body and health.

Emerson Grows Tired of Providing for 500 Austrians Who Tramped From Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Man., May 17.—News from Emerson tonight is to the effect that the Mayor is becoming tired of providing for the 500 Austrians who tramped from Winnipeg. Yesterday the municipality fed them on soup and bread, but the Mayor says that unless aid is forthcoming from the Dominion Government or the militia authorities tomorrow he will turn the men loose.

In Winnipeg it is stated that Colonel Sutton has received orders directing him to take action, but he will not say what these are. However, it is understood that any action taken will follow sympathetic lines. It is stated that some of the men registered as enemy aliens will be taken in charge and interned, while an effort will be made to give the others employment.

GREAT A VENGEE

A Zeppelin flew over Calais, dropped some bombs, and killed two little children. This is a repetition of the barbarous aerial campaign which will remain forever an indelible stain on the name of Germany. For several months we have been told of the wonderful things the Germans were going to accomplish with the Zeppelins. But so far as we have been able to recall, they have yet failed to injure a combatant, or do damage to a military station. This vaunted instrument of war has to its credit the lives of a few old men, some women, and a few little children. It avoids the line of battle; it skulks in darkness until it reaches a place where it can destroy helpless non-combatants. And this foul work is done by a nation which nine months ago boasted that it had reached the acme of culture, and the perfection of military efficiency.

German submarines on the ocean attack peaceful fishermen and crowded passenger ships, and send them to the bottom of the sea without warning, and without regard to the sacrifice of innocent lives; the press of Germany hails it as a splendid achievement, and the school children are given a holiday that they may rejoice over the death of other children at the hand of a merciless foe. In the story of the Lusitania there is nothing more utterly fiendish than the rising of the submarine to the surface so that those on board might watch the effect of the work. One would have supposed that, if the officers of the pirate craft felt obliged to obey orders, they would have made haste to get where they could lose sight of the horror they had caused.

We shall not speak of the terrible destruction wrought in Belgium; or the nameless outrages committed in the march of the Germans through that unhappy land. There are some things that cannot be told; there are some wrongs that can never be effaced. If the whole category of wrongs were examined, not a single deed of evil could be found therein of which these ruthless invaders have not been guilty.

And yet the Germans as a people, up to the beginning of this war arrogated to themselves the leadership of civilization, and the world at large permitted itself to be imposed upon by this monstrous claim. We know now that this civilization was only a thin veneer over ruthless savagery. This is one of the strangest things in all history. Here we have a people that had done many great things in art and science, which justly prided itself upon its institutions of learning; a nation that was held up as an example to others. Almost in a moment it reverted to a barbarism of inconceivable ferocity. It became a nation without a conscience. Its rulers acknowledged no right except what they willed. Its people became submissive to a degree unheard of in the annals of the world. They believed every wild tale invented against their foes; they prosecuted a campaign of falsehood; they sanctioned the violation of national honor and threw treaties and conventions to the winds. In the years to come someone may be able to discover the psychological explanation of this reversion to savagery; all we can do now is record it, and no historian ever recorded anything half so amazing.

The fruit of German kulture has been shown to be a menace to humanity. It has changed the character of tens of millions of people. It has made the peaceful, home-loving German a rival in atrocity with the merciless Turks, who have only just completed the massacre of 600,000 Armenians. The only suggestion we can make that seems to throw any light upon this unprecedented transformation of a people is that they have become drunk on pride in their own boasted invincibility and their assumed superiority. If such a people should triumph in a war, the world would be forced into a downward road like that which Imperial Rome followed after the Barbarians had overthrown her civilization. Another Dark Age would settle down upon Europe first, and then upon America. It is against such a catastrophe that the Allies are contending.

THE WAR

Yesterday's news from the Western front was highly satisfactory. The British troops have followed up the French progress north of Arras by a drive at the enemy's lines near Le Bassee and have scored a splendid success, capturing a series of trenches, breaking the German line in several places and taking a considerable number of prisoners. General French says that at one point his troops advanced nearly a mile into the German lines. At last accounts our troops were still advancing. Further south, the French have continued to make progress. It has been stated that the operations along the line between Ypres and Arras are not to be understood as a part of the promised general advance, but only as an effort to straighten out the line of the Allies; but the progress that is being made may easily develop into a great forward movement, which will compel the withdrawal of a large part of the enemy's forces on the Aisne and in Belgium. Successes are reported by the French War Office at other points. One notable gain has been made by the French along the Yser Canal and another in the Champagne. The general opinion in London is that the recent advances of the Allies will force the Germans to retreat from a very considerable portion of the line in the West. Our losses are known to have been heavy and we assume, those of the French have been much in the same proportion. Both the British and French commanders in the field say that the German losses have been enormous. There has been a halt in the operations of the enemy to the east of Ypres. From a general review of the events that have taken place along the Western line the conclusion seems warranted that the German offensive has lost "steam," and that in defence they are not as resolute as they were a month or two ago. While recognizing the danger of generalization from incomplete data, we think it may be assumed that the Allies have a preponderance of power in the West and can drive back the enemy whenever they think the time ripe to make an advance in great force.

The Russian staff says that the advance of the enemy in Western Galicia has been checked, and that an important victory has been gained in Eastern Galicia, where 30,000 prisoners were taken. After the battle the Austrians retreated in disorder.

TONNAGE FOR TIMBER

Several large orders for timber could be placed in British Columbia if ships were available to carry it to a market. It unfortunately happens that most of the tonnage operating on the Pacific is in the hands of San Francisco brokers, who very naturally prefer to place it at the disposal of United States mills. Owing to causes arising out of the war, freights are high and ships are scarce, nevertheless, the market demands lumber.

How shall the requisite tonnage be obtained so that the export business may, in part at least, come to this Province? The question is a difficult one, and we are not prepared with an answer. We know it has received and is receiving the attention of the Provincial Government, but do not think any satisfactory solution has yet been suggested. We are not sure that the subject is not one coming within the purview of the Federal Department of Commerce, and we know that the attention of Sir George Foster has been drawn to it by the Victoria Board of Trade. But it does not help the matter very much to shift the responsibility from Victoria to Ottawa. Sir George has instructed Mr. H. R. MacMillan to investigate it, but we suggest the question should be discussed by British Columbia commercial bodies concurrently with the prosecution by Mr. MacMillan of his inquiries. Sir George Foster is very desirous of assisting the export trade by every means in his power, and Mr. W. R. Ross, Minister of Lands, is having the subject investigated by the officials of his department. The Acting Premier, Mr. W. J. Bowser, expressed a few days ago his appreciation of the importance of it, and we know that Sir Richard McBride has had it before him in London during the past week or two.

What is needed is an arrangement of some kind that will make British Columbia shippers independent of San Francisco, and the moot question is as to how this can best be done.

THE ADMIRALISSIMO

Of all the leaders in the present war, the one of whom we hear the least, and yet the one who is performing the greatest task of all, is Admiral Sir John Jellicoe. On July 29th last the Austrians commenced the bombardment of Belgrade, which marked the opening of hostilities in the great war. The same day the First Fleet sailed from Portland in magnificent array and steamed into the North Sea to take up that watch that has never wavered during the past nine months. At the last moment a change was made in the Admiralissimo of the British Grand Fleet, as the First, Second and Third Fleets have come to be known in the present war. Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, second Sea Lord, replaced Admiral Sir George Callaghan. The reason for the change was that it was desirable to have as young an admiral as possible in charge of the fleet, for the strain and anxiety of the Admiralissimo's work are overwhelming. The whole navy knows that Admiral Callaghan forged the weapon which Admiral Jellicoe is using and that the former has borne the disappointment of being deprived of the command in time of war with supreme patriotism. Admiral Callaghan still takes a part in directing the campaign in consultation with the War Staff at the Admiralty in his capacity as Commander at the Nore.

Admiral Jellicoe, as far as the public has any knowledge of his whereabouts, disappeared into the unknown on that momentous day on which the fleet put out from Portland. Never in the history of war has such a veil of silence been drawn over the doings of a navy. At brief intervals it is lifted and we hear of such happenings as the fight off Heligoland, the sinking of the Blucher, some minor engagements between cruisers or torpedo boats, or the loss of a vessel by submarine attack. But as soon as the brief Admiralty statement has been given out the veil is dropped and Sir John Jellicoe and his ships are again lost to view. We have been asked, not once, but scores of times, if we can give any information of the whereabouts of the British dreadnoughts. We cannot. About Britain's capital ships, beyond those which comprise the battle-cruiser squadron, the Admiralty has been silent since the war commenced. The official reports have failed to mention Admiral Jellicoe. All we know is that he is directing the greatest task ever undertaken by a navy, silently, but with an efficiency that is being felt to the uttermost ends of the earth. Never was such an immense duty discharged in such a business-like way. Never such a pressure brought to bear upon the economic life of a nation, never were such immense bodies of men transported overseas in the face of the gravest risk and yet in perfect safety, and surely never was it possible before for this multitudinous work to be carried out in such complete silence. When the Riddle of the Sands is solved and the war is over we venture to think that among the list of the leaders who have made history no name will stand higher than that of Admiral Sir John Jellicoe. As an exemplar of the taciturnity of the British race and the ability to do things and say nothing about them the Admiralissimo of the Grand Fleet occupies a place that is peculiarly his own. He is making tradition in a unique way.

ALCOHOL AS A FUEL

The Imperial Motor Transport Council, which is a branch of the Royal Automobile Club, is studying the supply, the denaturing and probable demand for alcohol as a motor fuel, and a strong committee has been formed with the Hon. Arthur Stanley, M. P., as chairman, and Mr. Horace Wyatt as secretary. An office has been opened at 175 Fleet Street, London, and we are requested to ask persons in a position to do so to communicate to the secretary any information they may have on the following points:

1. The existing sources from which alcohol can be obtained.
2. The manufacture of industrial alcohol from the raw material.
3. The present and prospective demand for fuel for internal combustion engines.

THE KHALIFATE

As most people know, Mohammedanism for centuries looked upon the Khaliph as its head. He was regarded as the successor of Mohammed. The succession was recognized as regular down to 1517. In that year the famous Sultan of Turkey, Selim I., after a series of successful wars, by which he extended the sway of Turkey to the greatest limits it ever attained, compelling the Sultan of Egypt, who was the true Khaliph, to surrender the office and all the relics of the Prophet to him, and thereupon proclaimed himself head of Islam. But the usurpation was never recognized by the Ulema, the great ecclesiastical organization which preserves the doctrine of Islam and is regarded as the custodian of its authority. At the head of the Ulema is the Sheik ul Islam.

In these facts we may, perhaps, find the explanation of the reason why the proclamation of a holy war by the Turkish Sultans has never had any very general effect. It is understood that the Ulema is looking forward to a time when a true Khaliph will be installed, and it is said that the present Sultan of Egypt has as good a right to the office as anyone else, but probably the fact that he is under the protection and suzerainty of the British Government would bar his claims, for one of the tenets of the Ulema is that the Khaliph shall always be an independent sovereign.

The Canadian Exhibit at San Francisco has so impressed the people of California that a movement is on foot to prepare a similar display of the products and resources of that State to be shown wherever there is an exhibition of any magnitude.

The new Manitoba Government is going to take the matter of the Parliament Building scandal into court by prosecuting the contractor for receiving money illegally. There is one advantage in this course, for it will lead to a presentation of the facts before the court, whose findings will be more satisfactory than any report of a commission would be likely to be.

We are told that the German system of espionage cost Germany $4,000,000 a year in France alone. There were many fixed posts all over France, and the manager of each post hired his own special spies. This went on for years before the outbreak of the war, and it was information received from them that led Germany to think that the psychological moment had come to strike at France.

It has been found necessary in Eastern Canada to direct attention to the fact that passports are not required by citizens of the United States entering Canada on business or for pleasure. We do not know if any impression prevails on this Coast that passports are needed in such cases, but no harm would be done if the fact were generally made known in the Coast States, and especially at the San Francisco Exposition.

The German press asserts that the sinking of the Lusitania was justified by the fact that Great Britain is trying to starve Germany and that starving to death is infinitely worse than drowning. And yet we have been told over and over again by the same press that their country's food supply is inexhaustible. American correspondents, enjoying German confidence, tell us that it would be absolutely impossible to starve Germany, and assert that food can be purchased in that country as cheaply as in the United States.

The illness of the King of Greece may prove a very important thing. If he should not recover his successor will be his son George, who is twenty-five years of age, and very possibly has a mind of his own as to the future of the kingdom. Besides the heir to the throne King Constantine has four other children: Prince Alexander, aged 23; Princess Helena, 18; Prince Paul, 14, and Princess Irene, 11. The wife of the present King is sister of the German Emperor, and it has been suggested that her influence has had much to do with shaping the policy of the kingrom during the war.

Sir Douglas Haig, who is in command of the First Army, which has carried out an advance north of La Bassee, has had a uniform series of successes during the present war. There is no British General who knows more about the German army than he does. Twenty years ago he spent several months in Germany and at that time he wrote a letter full of prophetic knowledge of what has actually happened. It was the troops under his command who won the battle of Neuve Chapelle. In the retreat from Mons the strategy he displayed was of the superlative order, while the manner in which the Germans were defeated in the first battle of Ypres was yet another tribute to his masterly military skill.

The Western Call, which announces that it has entered upon the seventh year of its publication, and is really a very useful weekly publication, makes a very extraordinary statement in its last issue. It says: "The dailies are great consumers of money, and they have to look to the backing of great corporations and of party to find the necessary support. No matter, therefore, how the desires of the management may run, they are hampered and controlled largely by their needs." Surely the Call understands very little of daily journalism, or it would not make such a statement. Claiming to have some knowledge of the subject, we venture to say that there is not an established paper in British Columbia that is not absolutely self-sustaining or that receives backing in any way whatever from corporations, parties or governments.

It has been suggested that the Provincial Government might confiscate the property of Germans in British Columbia. It is more than doubtful if the Provincial Legislature could confer power upon the Government to do so, and it certainly has given no authority of the kind. Some very mistaken ideas prevail as to the powers of the Provincial Government, and hence criticism and even censure are very frequently misdirected. The Provincial Government is the creation of the Constitution Act, and it only exercises such powers as are conferred upon the Provincial Legislatures by the British North America Act. The general authority to maintain "peace, order, and good government in Canada" is vested in the Dominion Parliament. As we pointed out the other day, the department presided over by the Attorney-General can only act when specific charges are made under the Criminal Code, or where there is good reason to believe an offence against that code has been committed. In respect to the confiscation of the property of enemy aliens, that is an act which could only be done as a war measure, and sanction for it must come from the British Government, which must be supreme in matters of policy in the management of the war.

TRIAL ON THURSDAY

Charged with retaining property knowing it to be stolen, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Child, of this city, were arraigned before Magistrate Jay yesterday morning. They were defended by Mr. W. H. Bullock-Webster and entered a plea of not guilty. As the goods had been kept from the Saturday of the first local anti-German riots to the next Wednesday, when the police visited the home of the accused, His Honor concluded that there was a prima facie case and committed them for trial. They immediately elected for speedy trial before Judge Lampman and arranged for bail. Their cases will be heard on Thursday.

The stand was taken both by Mr. and Mrs. Child, and other witnesses for the defence were Sgt.-Maj. Marshall and Cpl. H. B. Nash, both of the Canadian Mounted Rifles. Both the latter having been members of a party occupying Mrs. Child's car on the night of the disturbances, testified that the goods, the finding of which resulted in the prosecution, had been thrown into the motor car. They did not know from where they came because of their distance from the actual centre of the trouble. Their car was at the corner of Wharf and Yates Streets.

On returning to Mrs. Child's home, one of the men had carried the property into the house and promised to return on Monday and look after its proper disposal. They then had coffee, and Mrs. Child had driven the two ladies included in the gathering to their residences.

Owing to the orders of the D.O.C., the soldiers were kept in barracks for several days in the following week and they had been unable to keep their promise. Mr. Child said that he had not returned until 2 a.m. on the Sunday morning following the incident in question and that, when he noticed the goods, Mrs. Child had explained how they happened to be there and the arrangement which had been made. He had not given the matter any further thought.

Mr. Moses Lees, from whose property most of the goods, which consisted chiefly of blankets and socks, were taken, identified most of it as belonging to him.

Mr. Bullock-Webster, in his address, maintained that no intent to do wrong had been shown and that there was no evidence that the articles had been unlawfully obtained. He, therefore, asked for a dismissal.

THROBBING, NEURALGIC HEADACHE CURED HEAD-SPLITTING DISTRESS VANISHES INSTANTLY

This Wonderful Curative Liniment Never Fails.

RELY ON NERVILINE

Neuralgia quickly cured is twice, nay, ten times cured. Little neuralgic pains grow into big ones, but "Nerviline" in five minutes relieves even the worst case. Even a single application will remove the nerve congestion that caused the pain.

Nerviline penetrates deeply into the sore tissue, reaches the source of inflammation, drives it out root and branch. Every drop of Nerviline is potent in pain-subduing power, and its strongest charm lies in the fact that it rubs right in, even to the very last drop. Nerviline is not greasy, and its pain-removing power is at least five times greater in strength than ordinary remedies.

We guarantee Nerviline will cure neuralgia—not only relieve it, but actually and permanently cure it. Just in the same way will it cure lumbago, sciatica, stiffness and rheumatism.

To conquer all muscular and nerve pain, use Nerviline. A large bottle in the home keeps the doctor's bill small. Get the large 50c family size bottle; it is more economical than the 25c trial size. Sold by all druggists everywhere, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

COURT OF REVISION GRANTS FEW APPEALS

Canadian Northern Pacific Representatives Are to Confer With Municipal Solicitor Regarding Assessment.

It was not till nine o'clock in the evening that the Saanich municipal court of revision yesterday completed its investigation of the 168 appeals against the assessed values. Very few reductions were made, and those that were made were principally amongst various Gordon Head and Cadboro Bay waterfront properties.

The Franco-Canadian Corporation which owns the Uplands objected to the assessment of eighteen and a half acres of its property at a valuation of $1,000 per acre, on the ground that expert opinion had decided against the feasibility of improving that particular eighteen and a half acres owing to the swampy nature of the land. The corporation claimed that the land in that district had suffered a serious depreciation since its purchase by a French syndicate, and that a low assessment was essential under present financial conditions to induce the company to improve the property. The court decided against the reduction.

The assessment of the city parks, Mt. Douglas and Gorge Parks, is a question to be decided by the Saanich council. The exemption clause passed in the amendment to the Municipal Act this year permits exemption by a two-thirds majority, and the matter will be discussed by the council at a later date.

Messrs. Bodwell and Lawson, acting for the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway, will meet the solicitor for the municipality in the next few days to confer regarding the property of the railway company that is properly open to taxation. There is no question raised by the municipal assessor as to the exemption from taxation of the right-of-way, but the railway owns property in Saanich assessed at about $300,000, which was purchased when the Patricia Bay line was planned. The decision of the conference will be submitted to the court of revision at its next meeting to be held a week from today.

COUNCIL WILL NOT BE PARTY TO SERVICES

Lack of Time Prevents Civic Action in Arranging Service of Intercession Asked by Daughters of Empire.

In view of the shortness of the notice, the City Council will be unable to adopt the suggestion made by the Municipal Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire that a service of intercession be arranged for the evening of Sunday next in Parliament Square.

The request came before the council last evening. Mayor Stewart believed the churches should hold special services in their respective edifices on Sunday evening. In this manner everyone would be able to participate.

Other members of the board could see no reason why the intercession service could not be held if the Daughters of the Empire desired it, but they were unanimous in believing that there was not time within which the council could undertake the arrangements, and Alderman Sargent's suggestion was approved to the effect that the Daughters of the Empire be informed that the council had not the time to make the arrangements in view of the short notice.

Prompt steps by the city to deal with the problem of the unemployed were urged in a communication from Mr. W. C. Winkle, in charge of the Central Employment and Relief Bureau. As the council will today deal with the future conduct of the bureau and decide the method by which it will be operated, Mr. Winkle's communication was tabled until this meeting. Mr. Winkle wrote as follows:

"As a public official, my obligation to the people I serve demands plain statements. Our fellow-citizens are in dire straits. Some are homeless, many are without food, and the insistent demand for help makes it imperative that the City Council should have direct knowledge of existing conditions to deal intelligently with the matter. Some measure of relief is imperative, and I feel confident that assistance will be forthcoming if proper representation is made. It seems cruel that certain individuals should persist in blocking every attempt at organization for relief. These men have employed tactics for the past six months that are worthy of a disciple of the higher Prussian command, and even at this late date are not prepared to abandon their systematic persecution of a suffering public. Something must be done, and done now, that this serious problem of unemployment may be relieved.

"This is a call for help and assistance on behalf of the citizens of Victoria, and I earnestly hope your honorable body may see fit to investigate the situation immediately."

A petition from thirty-five owners in the vicinity of Sunnyside Avenue protesting against the storing dynamite in the ravine near that street was referred to the engineering department, the petitioners claiming that the presence of the explosive was a menace to their property. City Engineer Rust informed the council that most of the explosive had been removed.

The recommendation of the market committee that some $1,250 be expended for sanitary arrangements at the market premises drew forth an objection from Alderman McNeill, chairman of the finance committee, to the effect that such expenditures should have been foreseen earlier so that necessary provision could have been made in the estimates. However, the recommendation was tabled until the streets committee meeting next Friday, when the plans of the suggested improvements will be available.

PREMIER RETURNING

Sir Richard McBride to Sail From London on May 26

Sir Richard McBride, who has been in London for several weeks, will sail for New York, on his return trip home, on May 26. He will embark on one of the American Line steamships. This information was conveyed to the Hon. W. J. Bowser in a cable message from Sir Richard yesterday.

It is not improbable that Sir Richard will make a stay of several days at Ottawa in order to consult with Sir Robert Borden, and in that event he would not reach the Provincial capital until the second week in June.

Sir Richard's activities in London on behalf of British Columbia have already borne fruit in respect to orders for lumber, and it is understood that he has been instrumental in securing from the War Office recognition of the value of the British Columbia canned salmon as rations for the troops, and that some large orders for that foodstuff will shortly be placed.

VOTERS' LIST REVISON

Objections of Liberal Ward Member Not Authorized by Party's Central Organization

The work before the Court of Revision which sat yesterday to revise the voters' list for this riding, was quickly disposed of, and under the guidance of Registrar Combe, the session was a short one. There was a large number of applications by persons who desired to get on the list, in view of the likelihood that the list would be used at both Provincial and Federal elections.

About 150 objections had been laid by Mr. James Taylor, a member of Ward I. Liberal executive, and these were mainly against well known persons who are still residents in the city but who have changed their addresses.

When the court opened, Mr. A. B. Fraser, president of the Liberal Association, asked for permission to make a statement. He explained that the objections had not received the sanction of the Liberal Association, and that at a meeting of the Liberal executive a motion had been passed that no objections should be laid.

Mr. Taylor stated that he had been one of a committee of twenty who was doing the work, and he found in canvassing that a large number of voters were not at the residences he had called on, and that he reported to Dr. Raynor, chairman of Ward I. Liberal Association, and the latter had suggested that he proceed with his objections.

Mr. Fraser denied this, but Mr. Taylor, who is an insurance agent, stated that he had Dr. Raynor's instructions to proceed.

Mr. W. H. Price, honorary secretary of the Victoria Conservative Association, pointed out that The Times on Saturday evening had stated that the Liberals were objecting to a large number of persons, and that they were endeavoring to clean up the list of "dead heads," "pluggers," etc., and that now they were alarmed at their own work in objecting to persons who were entitled to remain on the list. Mr. Price cited several names of well known residents who were objected to, and mentioned the name of Mr. W. Galt, who is well known as a resident of this city for ten years, and who has for several years been acting as purchasing agent for Victoria City.

The objector, Mr. Taylor, admitted that he did not know Mr. Galt, and had made no effort to find out whether he was a resident or not.

During the session quite a number of voters put in an appearance and protested strongly against being put to the inconvenience of coming to court to protect their vote.

The objections laid by the Liberals amounted to 150, all in Ward I., and they succeeded in sustaining seventy. The Conservatives laid objections to thirty persons who were deceased.

The Liberals have added 670 new names to the new list, the Conservatives about 1,000, and some 110 have been placed on the list by the registrar.

The list when made up will total close to 15,000, almost twice as many names as were on the list at the last election.

DR. H. C. PERRIN IS VISITOR TO VICTORIA

Director of McGill Conservatorium of Music Now in the City and Conducting the Local Examinations.

Dr. H. C. Perrin, professor of music and director of McGill Conservatorium of Music, Montreal, is in the city, in connection with the local examinations now in progress, and is a guest at the Empress Hotel. In conjunction with the local secretary, Mr. A. B. Dobson, Dr. Perrin was yesterday engaged with the work of the Victoria pupils who have entered for the local examinations. This will be completed today, and the names of the successful pupils announced.

In an interview with The Colonist yesterday Dr. Perrin said that the realm of music in Canada had been invaded by the disturbing influences born of the war, the result being that there was a noticeable lessening of interest, people who would otherwise have been very active in this art contenting themselves with expenditures on the essentials.

Asked if the war had not to some degree stimulated composers to essay something to meet the ebullition of patriotic feeling which was sweeping Canada, Dr. Perrin said that there were many offerings of verse, but it was only in exceptional instances that it had any merit. He himself had recently put to music some admirable verses by Canon Scott, of Quebec, entitled "The Colors of the Flag," and it was already assured of some popularity.

Dr. Perrin mentioned that McGill was certainly playing its part in the war, in respect to the number of the men it had sent to the front. For some years the atmosphere at McGill had been rather hostile to militarism, but the present mighty struggle in Europe had more than justified the wisdom and foresight of such men as Principal Peterson, who had for long "ploughed a lone furrow" in his endeavors to introduce military training and who had been mainly responsible for the establishment of the first Officers' Training Corps to be organized in Canada.

In touching upon the effect of the war on music, Dr. Perrin said he noticed wherever he went a very natural disposition to discard everything German. However admirable this might be as evidence of hostility to a race which had forfeited the friendship of civilization, it was doubtful if such discrimination could long be maintained, in view of the priceless heritage which had been handed down by German composers. In this connection Dr. Perrin mentioned the works of Bach and Beethoven—men of an age when militarism was not rampant in Germany and who could not conceivably have had any sympathy with the doctrine of the Prussian mailed fist. At Nelson the other day during the course of a programme, he had given a selection by Bach, but he took the precaution to assure his audience that this composer had flourished some two hundred years ago.

On his trip East Dr. Perrin will visit Edmonton, where he will adjudicate at the Alberta Musical Festival to be held on May 26, 27 and 28, and will visit other centres to conduct local examinations.

PRIZE DISTRIBUTION

Pupils Who Secured Prizes in Manufacturers' Association Essay Contest Will Get Awards

The distribution of the prizes won at the recent essay competition held under the auspices of the local branch of the B. C. Manufacturers' Association will take place tomorrow evening in the assembly room of the Girls' Central School, Fort Street. The competition, which was open to the scholars of all the public schools of the city as well as those of the three outside municipalities, proved a great success, and, the manufacturers believe, materially advanced the campaign inaugurated last year with a view to educating the public in the necessity of patronizing locally manufactured products. Handsome prizes were donated to the successful winners, and these will be awarded at tomorrow evening's gathering, Mayor Stewart having consented to make the presentations. Mr. George Jay, chairman of the board of school trustees, has been asked to preside, and it is expected that addresses will be made by the Hon. T. W. Paterson, ex-lieutenant-governor; Mr. F. A. Pauline, on behalf of the Victoria and Island Development Association; Mr. H. B. Thomson, M.P.P., for the B. C. Manufacturers' Association; and Mr. William Blakemore.

The committee in charge of the event particularly requests that there be a large attendance of parents and school children, and the general public is invited.

IMPROVEMENT TAXES DUE

Levies for the Year Must Be Paid on or Before End of Month

Property owners assessed for local improvement works are coming forward with their annual contributions to the civic exchequer. As May 31 is the due date for the payment of these levies, the City Treasurer's department will be busy from now until the end of the month. The aggregate amount of local improvement taxes payable this year by those ratepayers who have benefited from the works done is approximately $620,000, and covers street widening, street extensions, paving, sidewalks, boulevard construction, etc., the annual payments being based on terms of from twenty-five to fifty years for expropriation cost, and from five to fifteen years for construction outlays.

At a meeting of the Municipal Court of Revision on local improvements, to be held on June 10, appeals against the assessments for the widening work on Pandora Avenue between Douglas and Amelia Streets, Denman Street widening and Hillside Avenue widening between Cedar Hill Road and the City limits, will be heard. The Pandora Avenue widening was before a recent session of the court, but was postponed until an exact statement of cost was prepared. The Denman Street widening was also before the court, but it was shown that a number of dwellings on lands expropriated had not been sold, and the proceeds had not been devoted to the credit of the owners on the street, as should have been done. The Pandora Avenue widening, according to the assessments as compiled by the city officials, cost $387,894; the Denman Street expropriation, $33,178, and the Hillside Avenue widening, $70,398.

AUSTRIANS FLEE IN BUKOWINA

Important Positions Are Abandoned and 20,000 Prisoners Left in Russian Hands—Czernowitz Is Occupied.

LONDON, May 18.—The Austrian defeat in Bukowina was of such vast proportions as to more than off-set the victory gained by the Teutonic Allies in West Galicia, according to a Russian official statement contained in a despatch from Petrograd to the Reuter Telegram Company.

The Austrians are reported to have abandoned 20,000 prisoners in their flight and important positions, organized on a front of 140 versts (93 miles). The Russians claim to have occupied Czernowitz, and that the remnants of the Austrian army retreating in the direction of the Pruth are in danger of disaster.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Mail Is Received—Ten sacks of British mail were received at the local post office last Saturday. It left the Old Country on May 3 and was an exceptionally short time in transit.

Beef Soaring—Beef on the hoof at Calgary at the present time is 8½ cents per pound, an unheard-of price, and packers are said to be of the opinion that it will go higher.

Touring Constituency—Mr. R. F. Green, M. P., left yesterday on a visit to Nelson and other points in Kootenay, which constituency he represents in the Federal House. He will be absent about two weeks.

Seeks Missing Husband—The local detective department has received a request from Mrs. John Woodroff, of 316 Carroll Street, Vancouver, to seek to ascertain the whereabouts of her husband, John, who is believed to be resident in Victoria.

Saanich Red Cross—A most successful dance was held at West Road Hall, Saanich, on Friday last. The affair was arranged by the convener of the Saanich Red Cross Branch, Mrs. Lindsay, and was in aid of the local work being carried on for that object.

Market Day Tomorrow—Tomorrow will be market day, and in view of the success which attended the bi-weekly days last week a large attendance is looked for. The improvements recently made to the market premises have proved a decided advantage to grower and purchaser alike. A full line of all seasonable products will be displayed tomorrow.

Will Inspect Paving—In a few days a deputation representing the municipal authorities of Astoria, Ore., will arrive in the city with a view to inspecting the paving work done here within the past three or four years. Astoria has undertaken a paving programme and the deputation will visit a number of the North Pacific Coast cities to secure information.

Record Low Water—Telegraphic advices from Dawson are to the effect that never in the history of that city has the Yukon River been so low, this being attributed to a light snowfall during the Winter and cloudy days this Spring. It is held to be doubtful if the first boats will go through from Whitehorse before June 1. The dry season is causing the dredges to be late in starting.

Reaches Folkestone—The Hon. D. M. Eberts yesterday received a cable from his son, Dr. Harold Eberts, to the effect that he had arrived safely at Folkestone, Kent. Dr. Eberts sailed from Montreal, on board the SS. Metagama, with the McGill Hospital Unit which will serve at the front. McGill University has provided 1,250 beds with full equipment and staff. Dr. Harold Eberts has the rank of sergeant.

Prison Sentences—For having had a part in the riots of a little over a week ago, Peter Billings was sentenced to one month's imprisonment by Magistrate Jay yesterday. R. Linton received a similar sentence for having been a member of an unlawful assembly at the same time. This term is to run concurrently with the three months' hard labor he received for breaking the plate-glass window of a Yates Street store.

Seventeenth Anniversary — Majestic Council, No. 15 B, Royal Arcanum, held its seventeenth anniversary last night at A.O.U.W. Hall. Mr. John L. Beckwith presided. An entertaining programme of vocal and instrumental music was given, Rutherford's orchestra giving a good performance in combination and solo work. Sgt. Briggs, Mr. Fairey and Mr. Hughes sang many pleasing selections and were insistently encored.

Board of Trade Committee—The Board of Trade committee on agriculture will meet tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock to continue its discussion on various matters, among them being the establishment of a public abattoir in this city, facilities for shipping cattle on the E. & N. Railway and the egg-marking question. The report of the committee will be drafted and will be presented at the next meeting of the council of the Board of Trade.

Ballasting Line—The Hon. Thomas Taylor, Minister of Railways, reports that on the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway, ballasting is well advanced on the sections between Lytton and Kamloops, and that the line will be finally completed to the latter point by July 1, according to the present expectations. Ballasting on the sections north of Kamloops will probably be finished about the end of the month. A start on the erection of station buildings will be made at an early date.

Praises Exhibition—Lieut.-Col. George Ross, Chief Post Office Superintendent, spent a few hours in the city yesterday, on his return from the Panama Exposition. He speaks enthusiastically of the Canadian Exhibition, claiming that it alone is worth the price of admission, and that the Americans themselves are loudest in acknowledging its beauties. It has made so great an appeal that it is always crowded with sightseers and tourists. Col. Ross left for Vancouver last night on his way East.

Increase of Game—In a report to the Hon. W. J. Bowser, the Provincial game warden states that there is a gratifying increase of game in the Cariboo and Kootenay districts. Except for willow grouse, which show a diminution, all the game shows increases. Caribou, which at first were feared to be scarce this year in the Kootenay district, have reappeared in increased numbers quite recently. Deer are also plentiful. A new feature of this year's report is that quail are very numerous all along the international border.

Interviewed Executive — Councillor Walsh, of South Vancouver, headed a deputation from the Automobile Club of that city, which yesterday waited upon the Provincial Executive. They urged consideration of the proposal to permanently pave the River Road from South Vancouver to New Westminster, pointing out that proceeding with this enterprise now would materially assist in solving the unemployed problem. The Government is asked to contribute one-third to the cost of the work, the two-thirds cost being borne by the Municipality. The Government promised an early decision.

Down From Lillooet—Mr. Archibald McDonald, M. P. P., Lillooet's popular representative in the local House, and one of the pioneer merchants of the Cariboo district, is in the city. He reports considerable activity in his district. The crop outlook could not be better, and there is promise of considerable mining development this season, though the abnormally light snowfall is not proving an unmixed blessing. The people of North Lillooet are anxiously awaiting an announcement that work will be resumed on the construction of the Pacific Great Eastern line to Fort George.

Largest Exporter—The Hastings Mill, which has just secured an order from the British Admiralty for over 10,000,- [illegible] lumber, through the Hon. W. R. Ross, Minister of Lands, who was able to settle the difficulty respecting tonnage, has been for the past fifty years the largest exporter of lumber in the Province. During that whole period there has rarely been a time when there was not one or more ships at the mill wharf loading lumber for England, Australia, or the Orient. With the termination of the war, other large orders for lumber are expected to flow to all the exporters in this Province.

Canada Is First—Detective Inspector George M. Perdue, Captain Butler and Mr. Alexander McDermott returned on Sunday from a trip to San Francisco and other Southern points. They were loud in the praises of the Canadian exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, but has little good to say of the brand of California climate they experienced while away. They unanimously declared that Canada's display was without doubt far and away better than any other at the Exposition and because of its excellence Canada was easily first in point of interest taken by visitors in the fair.

Praises Canada's Exhibit—Mr. J. E. Chilberg, of Seattle, who was president of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition in 1909, has just returned from a visit to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. Referring to the Canadian exhibit there, he said: "The Canadian exhibit must be given the palm for its effectiveness in presenting a concrete summary of the resources and advantages of Canada. It is a great advertisement for our northerly neighbor. In this one building one gets a good conception of Canada's life, activities and potentialities. The building and its interior exhibit would be a credit to any nation on the globe."

Is Doing Well—Word has been received here by Mr. Adam McIlroy and Mrs. G. Robertson, of 740 Burdett Avenue, from the Canadian Stationary Hospital at Le Touquet, to the effect that Pte. Samuel McIlroy, 16th Battalion, recently reported wounded, is progressing favorably. Although his arm and neck were seriously injured, he appears to be comfortable, and the sender of the message states that there is no cause for worry. Pte. McIlroy was well known in this city, and for the benefit of those who would like to correspond with him, his address is as follows: No. 2 Canadian Stationary Hospital, Le Touquet, France.

Result of Draw—The draw in connection with the raffle of a hardsome garden seat, which was conducted by Mr. W. S. Terry, the local Belgian consul, last Saturday, resulted luckily for Mr. H. S. Crotty, of Craigdarroch. His ticket, No. 124, was drawn. The net proceeds totalled $47.50. It is explained that the article was presented by Messrs. Robillard & Sons, woodworkers and landscape gardeners, of Oak Bay, on the understanding that the money received should be forwarded to a town in France, from which they come and where a large number of Belgian and French people are known to have taken refuge. There it will be devoted to the relief of the children of those in need.

Will Elect President—A meeting of the executive of the Victoria and Island Development Association will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when, among other business to be transacted, will be the election of a president. Alderman Okell, who has been president of the organization since its inception a year ago, is of the opinion that the office should circulate among the members and it is at his request that the appointment of some other member of the association will be made. A number of sub-committees will also be appointed, one of them to be a committee to secure permanent attractions and amusements for the city.

Saanich Arm Case—Mr. David Miller was successful in his suit against Mr. Leon Camsusa, in which he sought to obtain title to six and one-tenth acres of land, situated on Saanich Inlet, which he had arranged to purchase from Mr. Camsusa and on which he had made two payments. The jury acting with Judge Lampman answered all the questions put by the plaintiff in the affirmative. The result is that Mr. Miller will retain the property on which he has built his Summer house and will have the perpetual right-of-way necessary to reach it. Mr. G. W. Fowkes represented Mr. Miller, while Mr. E. E. Mayer acted for the defendant.

FIRE IN SAANICH

Barn and Stock of Mr. L. B. Van Decar, Wilkinson Road, Totally Destroyed Early Sunday Morning

A mysterious fire totally destroyed the large barn and contents thereof, the property of Mr. L. B. Van Decar, Wilkinson Road, between 1:30 and 2 o'clock on Sunday morning. In the barn were stabled two horses, a Jersey cow, several pigs and a number of Belgian hares, and all were destroyed, together with a quantity of farm implements, etc. Mr. Van Decar puts his loss at $6,000, the only insurance carried being $800 on the building.

How the fire started is a mystery. Mr. Van Decar's son was in the residence near by procuring some supper when he noticed the reflection caused by the blaze. He looked out of the window and saw the barn was enveloped in fire which was roaring through the roof. It was impossible to make any attempt to save any of the contents, and within less than an hour nothing but smouldering embers remained.

NO FURTHER WORD REACHES MILITARY

C. M. R. and 48th Battalion Expects to Leave for England Any Day, but Have No Instructions So Far.

While both the 2nd C. M. R. and the 48th Battalion are expecting to be ordered to the Old Country any day, no intimation has been received by them, as yet, with regard to their departure.

Having agreed to go as a dismounted unit, Lieut.-Col. C. L. Bott and his officers are looking for something definite almost immediately. Lieut.-Col. Holmes and other officers of the 48th are busily engaged in the complete outfitting of their corps. In addition to this, they have prepared a week's programme which will keep the force profitably engaged this week. It follows:

Tuesday.—6:30 a.m. to 7:30 a.m., laying out kit; 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., kit inspections by sections; 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Nos. 1, 2 and 3 Companies in attack practice, No. 4 on miniature range.

Wednesday.—6:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., route marching, inspection of feet and report to adjutant.

Thursday.—6:30 to 7:30 a.m., company ceremonial drill, under commanding officers; 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., battalion ceremonial drill; 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., No. 1 Company on miniature range, Nos. 2, 3 and 4 Companies, lecture on night marching, sentries, and guard mounting.

Friday.—6:30 to 7:30 a.m., battalion drill under B. S. M.; 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., field entrenchments, knotting and lashing; night march.

Saturday.—6:30 to 7:30 a.m., no parade; 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., battalion in attack.

The funeral of Private George Simpson, of the 50th Highlanders, which took place yesterday morning was accompanied by military honors. Rev. Dr. Campbell, the chaplain, officiated at the services. The hymns sung were, "Jesu, Lover of My Soul," and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." The officers and men of the corps were largely represented and there were many flowers. A firing party fired three volleys over the grave and the buglers of the regiment sounded the "Last Post." Following were the pallbearers: Privates W. H. Martin, A. Crerar, E. H. Fisher, S. Pritchard, E. H. Cook, and W. Young.

"W. A. Alldritt, formerly physical director at the Y. M. C. A. in Revelstoke, is among those killed at the battle of Ypres," says a Revelstoke exchange. "He came to Revelstoke in October, 1907, to fill the position as physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., and filled the position for two years. In that time he was one of the best workers in the community, both among the boys and men, and always active and willing to do anything for the advancement and uplifting of those with whom he came in contact."

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN BEGINS TOMORROW

Everyone Is Urged to Participate in the Week's General Onslaught Against Dirt and Unsightly Premises.

For the week commencing tomorrow, residents of Victoria will have an opportunity to obey the injunction of the city and district clean-up committee, under the auspices of which the clean-up campaign has been inaugurated. A call has been issued to all and sundry to "clean up, paint up," and it is the hope of the committee that there will be no hesitation on the part of any property owner and occupant of premises in any part of the city to obey the injunction in the broadest possible manner. Something more, too, than a mere cleaning-up process may be fittingly undertaken. Trees may be planted, shrubs set out, and other adornment work done which will add materially to the attractiveness of the homes and help add to the reputation which Victoria holds of being a city of beautiful homes and surroundings.

Large posters calling the attention of the public to the week's campaign have been posted everywhere in conspicuous places, and arrangements have been made whereby local merchants will send out to all their customers handbills setting forth the need of a general participation in the campaign.

Owners and occupants of business premises are urged to clean up the holes and corners in the business district, and attention is called to the consiant nuisance caused by waste paper being placed outside such premises, whence it blows into the streets and neighboring vacant places.

Besides the benefit to be gained by the cleanliness of the premises from the sanitary and aesthetic standpoint, there is also the reduction in the fire risk, which should impel owners and occupants of business places to heed the injunction of the clean-up committee. Empty stores with dirty and poster bedraggled windows do not improve the appearance of a business street. There are a number of premises which, in this respect, badly need attention, and the owners or agents are expected to attend to them.

The committee has enlisted the aid of the Real Estate Exchange and other public organizations. The school children will be asked to bear in mind the importance of such work, and the Boy Scouts are expected to assist. In the city schools the importance of civic cleanliness will be impressed by the teachers upon the pupils.

For the convenience of the public, arrangements will be made whereby the city's garbage collection service will be available to remove the refuse matter which the owners or occupants of premises cannot otherwise dispose of.

W. A. TO MISSIONS

Comprehensive Programme Prepared by Ladies' Missionary Organization

The eleventh annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Missions opens this morning with Holy Communion at 11 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Herbert T. Archbold. At 11.30 the business of the meeting will begin. Mrs. Pelton will give an address of welcome, which will be replied to by Mrs. Laycock, of Sandwich. The noon hour address will be delivered by Rev. G. H. Andrews.

The president's address, a discussion on religious instruction in schools and a paper by Miss Ford will be features of the afternoon's work, which commences at 2 o'clock.

On Wednesday morning the Rev. F. L. Stephenson will deliver the noon hour address, the greater part of the session being devoted to the hearing of reports. In the afternoon the election of officers will take place and the Bishop will deliver the closing address. In the evening the girls' branches will report. The Rev. F. W. Kennedy, of Vancouver, will give an illustrated address and the Lord Bishop of the diocese will speak.

SIDNEY CELEBRATION

Empire Day Festivities Announced for Benefit of People of North Saanich—The Features

"Under the auspices of the Allies Chapter, North Saanich, an Imperial gathering to celebrate Empire Day will be held on F. Burns & Company's ranch, on the north side of Beacon Avenue, between Sidney and the East Road, kindly lent for the occasion, instead of the Automobile Club grounds on Third Street as previously announced, on Monday, May 4," says The Sidney Record.

"There will be a grand march of children, which will be one of the most attractive features of the day's programme. The Boy Scouts, the Girl Guides, the pupils of the Sidney and North Saanich schools, and other children of the district will assemble at 1:45 p. m. Each child who attends will be presented with a souvenir Union Jack pin."

BRITISH AVIATOR BESTS A GERMAN

Pte. Fred Ivey, of This City, Tells of One of Sights Witnessed From Trench—Some Experiences.

Reference to a fight between a British and German aviator and an account of some experiences in the trenches are given by Pte. Fred Ivey, of this city, in a letter to his father and mother. Pte. Ivey is with the 7th Battalion, and has since been reported wounded. He reenlisted here with the 88th Fusiliers, and will be recalled as having at one time held the position of chef at the Victoria Hotel.

He says:

"Just a few lines in answer to your letter which I received a few days ago. We have been in the fire trenches for the last five days, and all I can say is we have seen more during that time than all the other trips to the trenches put together.

"Yesterday morning I saw my first air fight between two aeroplanes and, as usual, the British won. It was a great sight, the German machine dropped about 2,000 feet just in behind their trenches.

"Alf. Hodge was wounded two days ago, and is on his way to England. We are going out tonight for four days. We have been given permission to give the names of a few places that we were in during the first few weeks of our time at the front.

"We landed at St. Mazier, France, and took the train to a place called Strazeele. We then went up into Belgium to one of the most famous places of the war, called Ploegsteert. It was here that some of the hardest fighting has taken place. We then went to Fleurbaix, in France, and did five weeks in the trenches there. This is as far as I am allowed to tell you anything about."

SEVERELY WOUNDED IN RUSHING ENEMY

Sergt. Wilson, of Victoria, Was in Thick of Hottest Fighting When Canadians Charged —Right Arm Saved.

One of the most striking letters received from a Victorian who has been in the thick of the fighting in the North of France comes from Sgt. Wilson to his sister, Mrs. C. C. Sankey, of the Alisa Apartments. Although he was in the midst of the bitterest part of the struggle between the Canadians and the Germans, during which the former lost so heavily, and had a part in the capture of the guns of which so much has been heard, he says nothing to indicate that his experience was anything exceptional. The note consists of only a few lines, which are scarcely decipherable, because they are penned with the left hand, the right arm being severely wounded. It comes from a Dundee hospital, is dated April 24, and follows:

"I got winged last Thursday night in a charge, and again in the charge to save the guns. On Friday morning the French cleared out and we tried to save the position with our small force. We lost every officer. I was to lose my right arm, but they have saved it for me, although I do not think it will be as much use as it was before. I expect it will be about two months before I will be back at the front again. I am being shifted from one hospital to another."

A relative of Sgt. Wilson and his sister, Mrs. Sankey, throws more light on the last engagement in which Sgt. Wilson figured. She says, in part:

"He was very sick with the beastly German gas. The Canadians have had it very hard. Charlie was in charge of one of the forts, and where the Frenchmen failed the kilts went in and took it. Charlie alone with two other boys went in at night to try to capture the machine gun that was killing all the boys. One of the three had his left arm blown off and Charlie thought he had his right. I don't know how many there were altogether, but Charlie says only two came out alive."

VICTORIA GUNNER DESCRIBES ATTACK

Bombardier Diespecker Tells of the Attack Made on Canadian Line During Latter Part of April.

The following letter has been received from Bombardier Louis C. Diespecker, 3rd Battery, 1st Artillery Brigade, and is dated April 27, the time when specially severe attacks were made by the Germans upon the part of the battle line held by the Canadian contingent:

"Since I last wrote we have had plenty of excitement and are again in action. A big attack was made on us (when, I may not say), but I will attempt to describe it. Everything was calm, with an occasional shell being fired by both sides, when suddenly every gun of the enemy seemed to be fired at once. Shells were landing everywhere, "Black Marias," "Weary Willies," "Jack Johnsons," "Coal Boxes," etc. This lasted several hours, and the din was increased by our guns, then suddenly the rifle fire broke out. Then I had to take a wounded man to the dressing station, about two miles back.

"When I got back, the battery was hooked up and was going to a new position. I had to get my horse saddled and we went at full gallop down a road that was being swept with rifle and artillery fire, passing dead horses and men. I came through O.K. We took up a position yesterday which we could get to only by galloping down a road with "Jack Johnsons" flying all round, dead horses and men everywhere. The horse next to me was killed and my own horse knocked over and wounded in three places. One piece of shell went through my coat. The gas from the shells is awful; one can hardly breathe and one's eyes are running. I have not slept for three days. It is certainly a veritable hell here.

"We are allowed to write only two letters a week. I got a parcel from the Government and a letter from the Railway Department, so please thank them, it was a fine parcel. I am writing this while lying in a field with a telephone, and do not know if you will get the letter. Later still—O.K."

GARDENING HINTS

Soil Should Be Kept in Moist Condition by Constant Cultivation—Weeding and Thinning

In order to render assistance to the gardeners in this city, the Horticultural Branch of the Department of Agriculture has issued instructions which are applicable to conditions prevailing during this week.

At the present time the dry season is approaching and every possible effort should be put forth to preserve the moisture already in the soil. There are several methods by which this may be done, and one of the best and simplest is to keep the surface soil in a loose condition. To do this it should be hoed, raked and cultivated at intervals of ten days to two weeks and also following any rain or irrigation, which causes the surface soil to become packed. If the surface soil is kept loosened to a depth of about two inches there will be very little moisture lost by evaporation and, besides, air will be permitted to enter the soil and accelerate the chemical action and the bacterial growth, which are so necessary in the liberation of plant food. Level culture should be practiced whenever there is a shortage of moisture. If the soil is deeply furrowed it presents a greater surface to the drying effects of the sun and wind. Slight hilling may be necessary where carrots, long varieties of radishes and early potatoes are in danger of being spoiled for use by the exposure of a portion of their roots.

While such methods of cultivation will destroy all weeds between the rows, the weeds in the rows must also be given attention and as soon as they are large enough they should be picked out by hand, as they tend to check the growth of the young plants by consuming the moisture and plant food and later choke them out entirely by crowding them. These weeds will pull easier if the soil is moist, but under no consideration should the root be left in the ground, as it will often grow again after the tops have been broken off. The best way to get rid of the weeds is to pull them, root and top, and place them in a hill to die.

While the removal of weeds from the rows aids the growth of the vegetables, attention should be given to the proper thinning of the plants. As it is not always known how much vitality is possessed by various grades of seed when sowing, it is often sown too thick. Vegetables such as the onion, beet, lettuce, carrot and radish are often thinned by using the largest ones first and thus giving the remaining plants more room in which to thrive. This is in many ways a good policy, but where the supply is greater than the demand, or if it is desirable to permit the remaining ones to mature rapidly, thinning will pay as well as weeding.

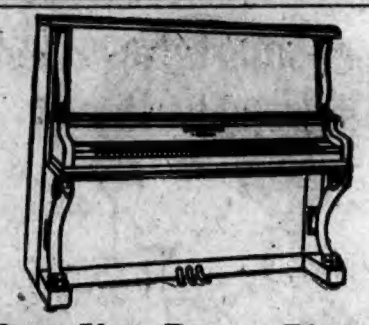

Oftentimes, after the proper cultivation, weeding and thinning has been done, the leaf crops, especially, are benefited by an application of nitrogen. Nitrate of soda is one of the best fertilizers in common use, and satisfactory results can be obtained by one application, followed by rain or a sprinkling of water. It should be applied at intervals of about two weeks and at the rate of 150 to 200 pounds per acre, or one pound to every two hundred square feet. If it is allowed to remain on the leaves of the plants, however, it will burn them, and for this reason it is practicable to work the fertilizer into the ground around the plant with a hoe.

Local Manufacturers Pass Resolution of Regret at Death of President of Provincial Organization

At the bi-monthly meeting of the Victoria branch of the B. C. Manufacturers' Association yesterday at the Westholme Grill a motion, proposed by Mr. S. R. Newton and seconded by Mr. W. A. Jamieson, was unanimously passed to the effect that Vice-President Pendray convey to members of the Vancouver branch of the Association the expression of the regret of the Victoria branch at the sad death of the late Mr. E. H. Morrison, president of the association, and also sincere sympathy with his family and relatives.

Mr. Morrison was on his way to England on board the Lusitania and was lost when that vessel was sunk by a German submarine. His trip to England was being taken in the interests of the association, to act in conjunction with the association's special commissioner in London, Mr. Howard, in an effort to have some War Office orders for materials given to B. C. manufacturers.

Ladies' Hairdressing in London and Paris

BY CONSTANCE

When I was in Europe this year I found both cities so thickly dotted with hairdressing parlors and hair goods stores that I wondered if the women ever had time for anything but care of the hair. Personally I was chiefly interested in finding a really good shampoo and I found that they never use cocoanut oil, but always some item made for shampooing only, and I was happily surprised when several inquiries each brought the suggestion that our own American weds canthrox shampoo is best. They like it because in addition to being perfectly safe and making the hair free from all dandruff, causes oil and dust, it is so simple to get one ounce from any druggist and just dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, knowing you will then have a preparation that makes the hair not only entirely clean but so fluffy that it appears very heavy. Canthrox stimulates the scalp to healthy action, making the hand feel good and the hair look good.

It is claimed that women of the United States country spend $6,000,000 of the British

GRAY HAIR

In Women's Realm

BY MARIA LAWSON

MRS. BAILLIE REYNOLDS

O Nameless Dead!

The Polish plains are white with snow,
But redder yet with blood below;
Upon the far Carpathian hills
Death watches, while his garner fills.

Half-buried 'neath her blackened stones,
This land that once was Belgium groans;
From Belfort to the Channel waves
The earth is filled with nameless graves.

O gallant hearts untimely dead,
What word shall o'er your graves be said?
What fair memorial lines shall keep
Your memory living while you sleep?

Not less your due than their who won
At Salamis and Marathon.
Ah, would some hand might strike for these
The lyre of old Simonides.

And tell to peoples yet unborn
The terrors of that crimson morn
When the wild war-lord flung his brands
Across the peaceful, smiling lands.

And keep for you the loftiest strain,
Who paid the price and bore the pain,
Whose blood was freely, nobly shed,
O nameless, unforgotten dead!

—Paul Neuman.

A Novelist

Among well known women writers in England is Mrs. Louis Baillie Reynolds, the author of a number of books, the latest of which is "The Cost of a Promise." This was published just before the war and has proved very popular, even though it contains no reference to the subject that has taken possession of most people.

Mrs. Reynolds has written ever since she was a child. Her stories have appeared in many periodicals. She refused to be discouraged, and, in spite of all distractions, she is still engaged on works of fiction. Mrs. Reynolds, who has been married for twenty-five years, still uses her maiden name, G. M. Robins, as a writer. In 1913 she was elected president of the Society of Women Journalists and is a member of the Society of Authors.

Mrs. Reynolds is among the number of those who have written war poetry. A hymn, written by her, has been so fortunate as to secure the approval of Queen Mary, who asked that it should be sung regularly in the Chapel Royal. The proceeds are being devoted to the Prince of Wales Fund.

The following sentence from an interview in The Lady's Pictorial will give a hint of the kind of work done by this popular writer:

"Short stories, as I have told you, were my first literary loves, and to them I have been returning lately, as there has been such a demand for magazine stories. I suppose many people—soldiers especially—and the wounded in particular, like something that can be read quickly and that does not impose too great a strain on the attention."

Homes for Farm Hands

The difficulty of procuring farm labor when it is needed is felt in our own Province as in others. In Ontario a remedy has been proposed by John Farrell, Provincial Immigration Agent, which should be considered here, not only by the farmers themselves but by many wives and mothers, who find city life increasingly difficult.

Mr. Farrell advises farmers to build cottages so that the men whom they engage should have homes. This will enable them to have permanent help. The man will have a motive for doing his best, that is absent when he cannot look forward to bringing his wife and family with him.

The young wife who refuses to go to the country with her husband because wages are lower in the country than in town forgets that there are compensating advantages. In this country fuel may be had, as a rule, for the cutting. The privilege of keeping a cow is usually given. Even when this is not done milk may be had cheap. Rent and water are free. A garden can be cultivated, giving plenty of fresh vegetables. The children can have plenty of fresh air, and the expense of dressing them is, as a rule, less than in the city. If there are older boys and girls they may receive employment during busy seasons. It should be possible to obtain farm produce at a cheaper rate than in the city. The thrifty housewife will have an opportunity of keeping, at least, enough chickens to lay eggs for her own use, and may be able to raise some for the market.

Those who have tried both plans say that the farm laborer can do better than the unskilled worker in the city, even in fairly good times. The rural schools are, or should be, as good as those in the city for little children.

Those who have spent their childhood in the country know the freedom, the quietness, the leisure, the opportunity for growth, physical and mental, as well as moral, of a well ordered home have given them many advantages over city children.

Those things are worth consideration, not only by the seeker after work, but by the employer of labor. The farmer or the fruit-grower who provides a home for his helper and who treats him with consideration will find that he has made a profitable investment.

An Ounce of Prevention

Much is being said from time to time of the work being done by children's aid societies, detention homes, and reform schools. That all of these institutions are very helpful in caring for children who have been neglected is very true. In many instances their work seems marvellous. Still, very few indeed of the mothers and fathers of Victoria children are willing that their sons or daughters should appear before the Juvenile Court or be made wards of the Children's Aid Society, much less be sent away to the reform school. Yet, most residents of the city know that there are children of respectable people who are being neglected and are growing up to be useless, if not bad, citizens.

Night after night boys and girls congregate on the streets and play till a late hour without any oversight or supervision. On any afternoon, lads of from 12 to 15 may be met smoking cigarettes as they stroll lazily along quiet streets or stand in out-of-the-way corners. Does anyone think that these children are fitting themselves to become useful men and women?

By its camps and other activities, the Y. M. C. A. helps some of these boys, but there are a great many this organization does not reach. The Y. W. C. A. helps a limited number of young girls, and there is at least one outing club that provides amusement for others. But, it is to be feared that the gang spirit is growing among our lads, and that too many girls are becoming rude and careless in their behavior.

Have the Boy Scouts done all that was expected of them in Victoria? Is there not room for the spread of this organization, filling the boys with a love of wholesome adventure and outdoor life? No one can look at a troop of Boy Scouts on their way to or from an expedition without feeling that under proper leadership they are growing strong and alert. It is quite true that everything depends on the scoutmaster. He must be able to control and direct those who are placed under his charge. At present many of the old masters are at the front. Are there not others to take their places? Leadership is needed at home, as well as on the battlefield, and it is surely most important to save lads for lives of future usefulness. Among the young men whom duty or necessity keeps at home, are there not some who are fitted to be leaders among the boys? To some of them the methods of the Boy Scouts appeal. Mothers who are anxious about wayward lads should study the following code, which may be called the constitution of the Boy Scout organization, remembering at the same time that without the inspiration of a good leader and firm control, the best principles will not ensure good conduct in children.

A scout is trustworthy. He is taught that under no condition is an untruth justifiable, and that his honor is sacred.

A scout is loyal. Loyalty begins with his parents and runs through to the scoutmaster and to his country.

A scout is courteous. And he is taught never to take pay for any act of courtesy.

A scout is kind. He protects harmless life and will kill nothing needlessly.

A scout is obedient. He begins with obedience at home and gives obedience to all constituted authority.

A scout is cheerful. He smiles. He never shirks or grumbles.

A scout is thrifty. He must have a deposit in the bank. He saves his own money in order that he may help others when in need.

A scout is brave. He must stand for the right when the coaxing of friends or the jeers of enemies urge him to do otherwise.

A scout is clean. He keeps clean in body and thought, believes in clean sport and travels with a clean crowd.

A scout is reverent. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others.

Perhaps, in our own city, a mistake has been made in allowing children of tender years to join the troops. Twelve years is young enough for the degree of liberty and the amount of hardship involved in scout life.

There may be other and equally good ways of dealing with children who have reached the age when a desire for independence is strong within them. But the policy of doing nothing which is being pursued in many homes and some communities will not save the boys.

A Rose Show

It is to be hoped that the King's Daughters will receive sufficient encouragement to enable them to hold a rose show this season. Victoria does well to do everything possible to encourage the growth of roses. Portland has made rose growing a profitable business. People come from far and near to see her Rose Festival, and no one goes away disappointed.

The roses in Victoria are very lovely. They grow very rapidly and richly repay cultivation. There is no good reason why climbing roses should not adorn every house and why choice varieties should not be planted in many more gardens.

The rose show enables growers to compare varieties and to learn which are most likely to be successful. Gardeners, professional and amateur, should help to promote such an exhibition as is proposed by the King's Daughters. When Victoria was a much smaller city she had a horticultural society and beautiful rose shows were held. The consequence has been that roses are grown in all parts of the city and surrounding districts. That in many, perhaps the majority, of cases these could be made more beautiful if they were cultivated with greater care is doubtless true. The competition of well conducted rose show would doubtless tend to greater perfection as well as to a more widespread cultivation of the "queen of flowers."

"RICHARD THE GREAT" IS SEEN AT PANTAGES

Very Acceptable Six-Act Bill Presented for First Time Yesterday—Winona Winter Scores

"Richard the Great" is not the Plantagenet king come to life again, but the cleverest and most resourceful monkey ever seen. He is the star turn at Pantages this week, and in his department, his spontaneous originality and amusing antics, he represents the finest act of its kind ever seen in Victoria.

The brightest feature of the programme was undoubtedly dainty Winona Winter, "the cheerful girl" who is extremely versatile, for besides giving several songs in inimitable style, followed by some clever impersonations, she finishes up with some real versatilities, worthy to rank with some of the top notchers at the art.

Plays with a moral are not always very acceptable, but that cannot be said of "Conscience," the problem sketch presented by Rodney Ranous, for it is something unique in its line.

Barnes and Robinson proved great favorites with the audience in an unusually good choice of patter and songs, while Florence Rayfield proved to be a well-dressed, dainty little singer with a sweet voice.

Fern, Biglow and Meahan gave a knockabout acrobatic act which included a number of really clever stunts.

GUY BATES POST IN "OMAR, THE TENTMAKER"

Famous Dramatization of the Rubaiyat Will Be Seen at Royal Victoria

The big note of humanness and universality struck by "Omar, the Tentmaker," which comes to the Royal Victoria Theatre for a two days' engagement, commencing Friday, May 21, is one of the commendable features of the attraction. Every type of theatregoer, from the most intellectual scholar to the most casual "tired business man," finds delight in "Omar, the Tentmaker." Mr. Post is probably the most intellectual actor upon the English-speaking stage, but it is his superb mental equipment which helps so much to make his characterization of the lovable Persian poet and mystic, Omar Khayyam, in "Omar, the Tentmaker," such a revelation of lofty histrionic interpretation.

AMERICAN BARKENTINE HAWAII

Lumber-laden vessel which is now in the Royal Roads shipping stores and crew for the voyage to Cape Town. She carries 1,180,000 feet, and is due to clear tomorrow.

BARKENTINE WAS LOADED SMARTLY

Sailer Hawaii Averaged Nearly 100,000 Feet Per Day While at Genoa Bay—Puts to Sea on Wednesday.

After stowing her cargo of 1,180,000 feet of lumber in the fast time of twelve and a half days, the American barkentine Hawaii, Captain Wikander, took up an anchorage in the Royal Roads on Sunday from Genoa Bay. The barkentine was towed down from the Northern mills in seven hours by the McGregor tugs Swell and Spray. The lumber-laden vessel will swing at her mooring chains until Wednesday, when she is due to put to sea bound for Cape Town, South Africa.

In the meantime, Captain Wikander is busily engaged in shipping a crew to replace the men who were shipped back to San Francisco following her arrival in port toward the latter part of April. Seven seamen are to be taken aboard and a second mate is also to be shipped. While here the vessel is also taking on stores for the long voyage around Cape Horn. Captain Wikander is very pleased with the smart manner in which his vessel was loaded while at Genoa Bay.

Ship in Fine Trim

He says his ship is stowed splendidly and in fine trim for the forthcoming voyage, the deckload being so evenly stowed and lashed that, in the words of the skipper, "you could dance on it."

The deckload is much lighter than that usually carried by lumber ships, the Hawaii carrying approximately 300,000 feet above the hatches. Included in the cargo is a shipment of 80,000 feet of redwood brought North from San Francisco by the steam schooner Rainier. The Hawaii is under charter to Findlay, Durham & Brodie and was taken at a rate of 100 shillings. Captain Wikander expects to complete the voyage to Cape Town in slightly over 100 days. With the return of the Hawaii to the North Pacific from South Africa, her owners, Messrs. Hind, Rolph & Co., of San Francisco, plan to operate her in the sugar trade between the Hawaiian Islands and the Golden Gate, and with this idea in view propose to convert the barkentine into an auxiliary craft by equipping her with Diesel engines.

FINE UNION TANKER

Turbine-Driven Oil Carrier to Be Built at a Cost of $1,000,000

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—The Union Oil Company has just awarded a contract to the Union Iron Works of San Francisco for the construction of a $1,000,000 tank steamer. The vessel, which is to be completed within eleven months, is to have a capacity of 80,000 barrels of oil. Its length will be 435 feet, beam 55 feet, and draft 22.6 feet. Turbines will propel the steamer, while al; auxiliary machinery will be electrically driven.

LIGHTSHIP IN POSITION

Tender Leebro Took Repaired Vessel Out to Anchorage at Fraser Mouth

The Sandheads lightship is again swinging at an anchorage off the mouth of the Fraser River, the repaired vessel having been taken out yesterday morning by the lighthouse tender Leebro. The cables holding the lightship snapped during a recent storm, and the craft went aground. Much thicker cables are now provided, and are considered strong enough to hold the vessel in any storm.

DAMARA IS REPORTED

CALCHAS ON THURSDAY

Holt Steamer Was Slightly Delayed in Discharging at San Pedro

Owing to delay in putting off cargo at San Pedro, the Blue Funnel steamer Calchas, Captain Jones, is not expected to arrive here before Thursday. The Calchas arrived at San Francisco on Saturday, and she was due to leave the Golden Gate on Sunday night or Monday morning for Victoria. She is the fourth vessel of the company's fleet to come out here by way of the Panama route.

TO STEAM DIRECT FOR VLADIVOSTOK

Blue Funnel Liner Talthybius to Carry Huge Quantity of Supplies for Russia on Next Outward Voyage.

Vladivostok, the Manchurian terminal of the Trans-Siberian Railway, will be the first port of call for the Blue Funnel Line steamer Talthybius after she clears from Victoria at the end of the month.

It was announced yesterday by H. B. Davenport, local manager for Dodwell & Co., general agents for the Blue Funnel Line on this Coast, that the liner Talthybius is under orders to proceed direct from this port to Vladivostok, afterwards touching at Manila and Hong Kong via Japanese ports as outlined in her regular schedule.

Of the fleet now being operated by the Blue Funnel Line on the transpacific route, the Talthybius is the first to be sent to Vladivostok. This large carrier is taking out a cargo of not less than 15,000 tons and it is understood that the bulk of her outward cargo will be consigned to the Russian port on the far side of the Pacific. The freight for the initial port of call will be made up of foodstuffs and munitions, for which there is now a tremendous demand in the Russian Empire.

As far as can be ascertained, it is not thought that the Blue Funnel Line will include Vladivostok as a regular port of call in the itinerary of its transpacific fleet, but as business warrants the departure, ships will be dispatched there from this Coast.

Has Completed Bunkering

The Talthybius completed taking on bunker coal at Comox yesterday and was reported sailing from there yesterday afternoon for Seattle and Tacoma to commence loading for her outward voyage.

The liner Titan, of the same fleet, is scheduled to leave Hong Kong tomorrow with a heavy cargo of Oriental freight for Victoria and North Pacific ports. The Titan is due here on June 12 next.

LARGE INWARD LIST

Monteagle Bringing in Full Cabin List on Present Voyage From the Far East

The Canadian Pacific liner Monteagle, Captain F. L. Davison, R. N. R., which is due to arrive here from the Orient next Tuesday, is bringing in a cabin list of seventy-five passengers, in addition to 250 Orientals in the steerage quarters. She also has a cargo of 6,000 tons, including much silk. The Monteagle is making her second inward voyage from Hong Kong and Yokohama since being released from Government service.

FAST SAILING TIME

Barkentine Lahaina Completes Run From Durban to Newcastle in Forty Days

The barkentine Lahaina, which carried a cargo of lumber from British Columbia to South Africa, is reported to have arrived at Newcastle, N. S. W., from Durban after a fast passage of forty days. She will load a cargo of coal at the Australian port for the North Pacific.

The voyage of the Lahaina from Durban to Newcastle in forty days is considered to be very smart for a vessel of her type, as the distance she must have sailed is close on 5,000 miles.

Is Leaving for Alaska

After being overhauled at Esquimalt, the fleeting cannery tender Glory of the Seas will leave port today for Alaska in tow of the tug Goliah.

C. P. R. LINERS HAVE ARRIVED SAFELY

Missanabie Reaches Montreal From Liverpool and Metagama Reports Outward—Service Is Disrupted.

Having successfully run the submarine blockade, with a large list of passengers aboard, the Canadian Pacific liner Missanabie, terminated her transatlantic voyage on Sunday by arriving at Montreal, according to information received yesterday at the local offices of the company. No bookings are being made for the next scheduled outward sailing of the Missanabie on May 29, as the big liner has been commandeered for Government service.

As the sister liner Metagama has also been taken over by the Government, the C. P. R. service on the Atlantic has been completely disrupted, there being no passenger vessels flying the checkered houseflag on the Montreal-Liverpool route, the liner Empress of Britain have been previously chartered by the Imperial authorities.

According to C. P. R. officials the service will only be interrupted temporarily, as the Missanabie and Metagama are expected to be returned to the service with as little delay as possible.

The new liner Melita, which is now rapidly being rushed to completion in British yards, is to enter the C. P. R. Atlantic service in July, and she will be followed shortly afterwards by the liner Minnedosa.

The local offices of the company have been notified that the steamship Metagama, which left Montreal on May 6 with naval and military units arrived safely on the British side on Sunday.

The June sailing of the Metagama from Montreal has been cancelled.

LINER FINLAND DUE

Panama-Pacific Liner Expected at San Francisco Today With Tourists From New York

The big liner Finland, of the Panama-Pacific Line, which is inaugurating a new service between New York and San Francisco, is due at the Golden Gate port today. En route, the liner stopped at San Diego in order that the large list of tourist passengers might view the Southern California Exposition. The Finland is to operate between the East Coast and the Golden Gate in conjunction with the liner Kroonland.

LONG NORTHERN CRUISE

Estevan Gets Away With Annual Supplies for Coast Light Stations

Taking out a large gas and whistling buoy, which is to be established at Overfalls Shoal, off Rose Spit, one of the most northerly points of the Queen Charlotte Islands, the Dominion lighthouse tender Estevan, Captain Barnes, left yesterday on an extended cruise. She also carried annual supplies for the lights marking the coastline from Cape Mudge to the Alaskan boundary.

All acetylene beacons on the mainland side will be recharged on the northbound voyage and the vessel will make the return trip attending to the aids on the Queen Charlotte group. She will be away from port several weeks.

TOURISTS FROM FAIR FINDING WAY NORTH

Coaster Governor Reached Port Yesterday From San Francisco With 249 Passengers

Bringing in a total of 249 passengers, including a large party of tourists from the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the steamship Governor, Captain Thomas, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, docked here at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from San Francisco and Southern California ports. Slightly delayed departure from the Golden Gate and head winds on the trip up the coast resulted in the ship making port about three hours behind schedule. About fifty passengers disembarked here and over 100 tons of freight was discharged prior to the departure of the vessel for Seattle at 5:45 p.m.

IS CHARTERED FOR TRADE TO MEXICO

G. T. P. Steamer Prince Albert Follows the Former B. C. Coasting Ships Cetriana and British Empire

Following in the wake of the Northern Steamship Company's vessels Cetriana and British Empire, the G. T. P. steamer Prince Albert is to enter the San Francisco-Mexican trade, plying to Mazatlan, Manzanillo, Guaymas and Acapulco. The Prince Albert is due to pass out to sea today from Vancouver for the Golden Gate. The vessel has been taken under time charter, and it is expected that she will operate in the trade between California and the troubled republic for at least six months.

Since she was repaired, following her stranding last year, when bound from the Queen Charlottes to Prince Rupert, the Prince Albert has been laid up at Vancouver. Captain Morehouse, who is well known in the British Columbia coasting trade, is going out as master of the steamer.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED ABOARD CHIYO MARU

Blaze on Transpacific Passenger Liner Was Confined to a Section of the Cotton Cargo.

TOKIO, May 18.—A wireless dispatch received early this morning says that the fire on board the steamer Chiyo Maru, which broke out on Sunday afternoon, has been extinguished. It was confined to a small section of the cotton cargo. The first news from the ship on fire was received from the Pacific mail steamer Mongolia, which said she had received a wireless call for help from the Chiyo Maru. While hurrying to the assistance of the Chiyo Maru the Mongolia received word that the fire was out.

The Chiyo Maru is one of the three palatial Marus operated by the Toyo Kisen Kaisha between Yokohama and San Francisco, via Honolulu. She was bound from the Golden Gate to Yokohama with a large list of passengers, having sailed from San Francisco on May 1. The Chiyo Maru is due to reach Yokohama today.

CHANGED HER COURSE

Liner Transylvania Caused Some Surprise by Slipping Unexpectedly Into Greenock

LIVERPOOL, May 17.—The Cunard Line steamship Transylvania arrived safely at Greenock, Scotland, at 3 a.m., today. When she sailed from New York, Liverpool was supposed to be her destination, but her course was changed to minimise the danger of passing through the German "war zone."

REDUCED IMMIGRATION

Few Arrivals From Mother Country and Continental Europe—More Come From United States

OTTAWA, May 17.—With the outbreak of the war and the consequent disorganization of the Atlantic steamship service immigration to Canada from the Mother Country and continental Europe has practically ceased. Between August 1, 1914, and April 30, 1915, the British immigrant arrivals have been 12,000 and the continental arrivals 3,700.

Consisting, as it does, largely of agriculturists, the movement of settlers from the United States to the Dominion is still encouraged by the Canadian Government, it being felt that the greater the number engaged in farming operations the better able we are to provide the food supplies required in these times of stress by the Empire and our Allies. Since the outbreak of war 80,000 from the States have taken up their homes in Canada.

Not only has the Government continued to encourage immigration from the States, but the greatest care has been taken that no unnecessary barriers be placed in the way of intercourse between the two countries. There is an immense trade between Canada and the neighboring Republic, which necessitates constant crossing of the international boundary by commercial travellers and other business men. There are in both countries hundreds of places of scenic beauty and historical interest which attract the tourist, and realising the advisability of in no way interfering with this class of traffic, officials have been instructed to continue the same courteous treatment to the bona fide travelling public as was customary before the outbreak of the war. It is pointed out that the United States citizen need not go to the trouble or expense of securing passports, nor will unnaturalized residents of the United States coming to this country for peaceable purposes be in any way interfered with.

Typical wheat farms in Australia extend from 600 to 1,000 acres and are usually worked single-handed by the farmer and his family, labor-saving machinery being used in every possible direction.

Natives of Peru use a boat made entirely of reeds and straw, even the sail consisting of straw matting.

USING SOAP SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), it's cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Food for Warm Days

"Heating" foods, as the expression implies, should not be used in the warm weather now approaching. Starchy and fatty foods are those which heat most, because they are concentrated, i. e., have not enough waste matter to stimulate intestinal activity. The result is absorption of decomposed products into the blood which irritates the skin, clogs the organs of elimination and reduces vitality required to withstand the heat. Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal positively prevents all decomposition within the digestive tube, preventing the possibility of absorption of matters which "heat the blood." Make porridge at night and eat cold in morning. It can be made with the evening meal and save trouble. Be sure to use a double boiler or set single boiler in basin of boiling water to prevent burning, because you positively must not stir while cooking. If you do you spoil the granulation of the meal, which costs a lot more than rolling or crushing, lessen digestibility, and spoil a most delicious food. All grocers, 30c package.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy.

HOW NETHERLANDS IS AFFECTED BY WAR

German Blockade Ineffective—Contrast Which Dutch Conditions Present in Comparison With Those of Belgium.

A Dutch correspondent of a Scottish exchange writes as follows on the conditions pertaining at present in Holland as the result of the war:

The great difficulty which presented itself to us immediately after this great war had begun was the holding up of our steamers with grain and other merchandise. The parties now at war against Germany and Austria refused to let anything come through, and our ships and merchandise from the United States of America and from our Indies were held up and directed either to Great Britain or France. The steamers were discharged there, and although we presented our bills of lading, we could not get the goods, neither what same had realised when sold, and we had to go through no end of formalities and pay big expenses before we were able to get back our money. Some of the cargoes had to go before the Prize Court, and it will be easily understood that it took a long time before everything was arranged and regulated, especially so as we had to prove that the goods seized did belong to us, and had never belonged at any time to the enemy.

In Great Britain these transactions came to an end comparatively quickly, but with our good friends in France matters were not so easy, and cargoes that have been held up seven months ago have not as yet been settled, but are still before the Prize Court. There is no end of difficulties. We have sent lawyers over there, and matters are now being dealt with, but it takes time, time, time! Moreover, Holland had to import all sorts of grain and other feeding stuffs, and we were very short indeed; our Government, taking up the matter energetically, saw quite well that we could not go on in this way. As a result of several meetings, the Netherlands Oversea Trust Co. was formed (Nederlandsche Oversee Trust Maatschappy), and its object is to secure free trade with countries oversea for goods destined for Holland.

The Netherlands Oversea Trust Co., now called the N.O.T., guarantees that all the goods consigned to her will remain in Holland, and the Ambassadors of the different parties at war have full confidence in the men that stand at the head of this institution, and are quite satisfied with the guarantee of this Company. Since its erection it has grown day by day, has had to enlarge its office staff continuously, and is now located in big offices at The Hague. The amount of work they do at the present is tremendous, and the correspondence they have is a huge one.

If a merchant in Holland wishes to buy certain goods from an oversea country, he has to ask the permission of the Netherlands Oversea Trust to import these goods in their name. Application forms must be filled up, lots of formalities must be gone through, and a banker's guarantee given, which stands good until the war is over, that a very heavy penalty will be demanded in case it comes to light that anything imported in the name of the Netherlands Oversea Trust should get over the frontier. So strict are these conditions that practically one binds himself up to everything he possesses, and moreover his banker also, if anything of this kind should happen. All these preliminaries are to be made in order that the Netherlands Oversea Trust will allow the documents to be made out in its name, and on arrival of the goods in Holland they are declared to be for Holland consumption, and as we have prohibition of export on almost every article, there is little or no chance of anything possibly getting over the frontier.

The Netherlands Oversea Trust also looks at the quantities which are imported, and has to watch very carefully that no more of a certain merchandise is imported than statistics point out that is necessary. Over a hundred contracts are closed daily with this company, and in this way our trade is going on quietly, and we are spared all the difficulties and annoyances that we had with our goods before this company was in existence.

It looks to me that this is really a splendid institution. It undoubtedly satisfies Great Britain and France, and we can get all we want if we only care to go to the trouble of working through the heap of formalities necessary to get the permission wanted.

The mails arrive again as before the declaration, and the London newspapers are to hand once more the same day on which they come out in London. We have heard that our Flushing steamer has met once or twice a German submarine, but instead of doing her any harm she was saluted with the flag by the submarine, which then disappeared. It is evident that Germany does not want any more trouble, and especially not with her neighbors, as although we are very small in number, we could do great harm to her.

As in the case in almost every country in Europe, prices for the necessaries of life have gone up, and are still going up further, and for the working man, as well as for the poor, this brings great hardships. Our Government is doing all it can to help where this is possible, but as our trade is almost at a standstill, there are any amount of unemployed, and still these people must live.

In any case we are much better off than our Belgian friends, notwithstanding the Belgian Relief Committee is doing all it can to help this unfortunate country. The other day the steamship South Point arrived in Rotterdam, having on board some 380,000 sacks of flour, being a present from the American millers to the Belgian relief movement. Besides flour, she had on board blankets, condensed milk, corn meal, peas, beans, etc., to the value of 600,000 dollars, and with her came the energetic editor of The Northwestern Miller, who himself is now in Belgium looking after the distribution of this magnificent gift.

Early Swarms

Sir,—With regard to bee swarms around Victoria this year, we had a swarm get in one of our bedrooms on April 15. Mr. Little, beekeeper, of Garden City, hived the swarm. He says it was the largest he ever saw, it being impossible to see out of the windows, the curtains being one mass of bees.

An Explanation

Sir,—During the Court of Revision held today Mr. A. B. Fraser, the president of the Liberal Association, denied my statement that it was at the suggestion of Dr. Raynor, the chairman of Ward I. Liberal Association, that I filed the objections.

I herewith make this statement as true that Dr. Raynor positively instructed me to file the objections on the strength of the information I had gathered as one of the committee of twenty who were engaged in carrying out the organization in this ward, notwithstanding Mr. Fraser's denial and repudiation.

Not a German

Sir,—As I find that several inquiries have been made at my daughter's residence, 324 Kingston Street, regarding my nationality and believe that I am in sympathy with Germany, I beg space in your valuable paper to publish the following for the information of the public and Victoria in particular.

I was born in Denmark, on a small island called Thaarsing, near Svendborg. My father and mother were also Danish, as were generations before them. I arrived here as seaman on a Norwegian bark in 1864, called King Oscar, and have remained here ever since, and sailed on the West Coast of Vancouver Island on the schooners Surprise and Alert for nearly twelve years. In 1868 I married a Scotch lady. In 1874 I took out my naturalization papers, under Sir Matthew B. Begbie, and became a British subject, and have strictly adhered to it and will do so for the remainder of my days. In 1876 I got my license as British Columbia pilot, and along with steamboating held that occupation to date.

Hoping that this statement will convince all sceptical persons that there is no German blood or patriotism in me, as my small country has suffered too much from Germany for that.

Economy

Sir,—When "we are fighting for our lives" and "the fate of the Empire is hanging in the balance" thrift is especially necessary. We must take care, all of us, not to waste anything, whether of money or stores, it may be useful later on. It is the last reserve that has the most enormous usefulness, which is a very important looking preface to a comparatively small though useful suggestion. Do not lose or waste heat, that is coal, any more than anything else, and wrap your hot water cylinder up in a cosy of some sort and you will get water just as hot with a smaller fire, and besides you will get it quicker in the morning, it will not have cooled so much at night. The cosy round our cylinder is, first, the corrugated paper they lay under carpets, then half a dozen days' newspapers tied on with string, and over all a jacket of an old piece of carpet. Old Colonists are better for this purpose; first, because they are thicker, and I can't, besides, convince myself that the opinions in The Times don't make the Esquimalt water in my cylinder shiver and chill it. Finally don't tie these coverings on tight. It is the air between the layers that does most good.

"The Enemy in Our Midst"

Sir,—It has always been our boast that the British Empire afforded a home and refuge to all conditions of men of all nationalitites. This proud boast has received something of a check in the case of Asiatics, but it has been the custom to point to our German settlers as models of colonists. Is it not time to call a halt or at least to abridge some of the benefits showered on these people?

A leopard cannot change its spots, and the formality of naturalization cannot alter the characters and ideals of our Teutonic settlers. This has been proved over and over again under the supreme tests. They are no more loyal to the British nation than if they had stayed in Germany. All the benefits derived from British citizenship have had no effect whatever. -- case in point is as follows: Not far from Victoria there is a family of Germans, long settled in the country, naturalised and prosperous. Soon after the outbreak of the war, when hundreds of our young men were flocking to the Union Jack, the mother of this German family, who has two fine strapping sons, stated openly that she regretted they were not at home, so that she could send them to fight for Germany. Such sentiment as this indicates the trend of thought among these people.

Surely with such evidence as this and many other cases afford, no Germans resident in Canada, whether naturalized or not, should be allowed to take part in the government of the country by the exercise of the parliamentary franchise. Let them come here, but treat them as a people apart from us, as they are, and do not allow them the franchise until the second or even third generation.

Recruiting and Ammunition

Dear Sir:—In looking over some of the English papers I get, I notice that to obtain recruits in some of the rural districts they have adopted several methods to induce the rural rustic to join the colors.

In one place they send out a military band, headed with some V.C. or D.C.M. man, dressed in full uniform, of course. In another place, or rather, county, they have the services of some first-class speaker, who, accompanied by a couple of ex-service men, give a panoramic view of some incidents of the war. The speaker himself, in lecturing, is an able man, and deals chiefly with the Empire question.

Would not something along these lines be good for B.C.? There are many able-bodied men in the Province who are from Missouri, and if some good speakers could be sent around they may be able to convince some of these men their homes were in Canada and not in Missouri, and there was a need of every one in some capacity or other to take part and help.

I see by the paper that Kitchener says there is no limit to the amount of ammunition needed. This means all calibres, and also that he now favors National Service for all men eligible for service, and there is no saying but what this idea will also be considered by the colonies, and it would be much better for those who can it and able to go to do so now, and not wait to be dragged in.

I would like others that are interested in this matter to give their views as to what they consider would be the best method to adopt so as to get the best results.

A Life-Saving Need

Dear Sir:—On several occasions it has been brought to my notice that a number of our soldiers and even sailors are unable to swim. There are many people who look upon swimming as a means of exercise and sport only, and as such, I admit it is in the foremost rank, but the time has come when the art of swimming must be considered in a different light. Apart from its being an athletic accomplishment, it is a duty we owe ourselves and our fellow-men to be able to at least preserve our own lives, if not others. It is highly recommended that we learn to administer First-Aid to the Injured. What about the drowning? Imagine if you can the helpless and utterly hopeless sufferings of the men, women and children in the recent Lusitania disaster, how in their ignorance of self-preservation at such a time they clung to every bit of wreckage, risked the lives of scores by crowding into already overcrowded lifeboats, or, in fear of diving into deep waters, cling to the rail of a doomed boat until it is too late. I am confident that if all the men and women on that boat had been able to swim, very few would have been drowned, and many children could have been saved. From the dispatches I quote Dr. F. Warren Pearl, of New York: "I did not know if any of my family were safe until I got ashore after three hours in the water, in which I floated with the greatest ease on my life belt." Mr. F. J. Gauntlett, of Washington: "Swinging free from one of the lifeboats as it descended, I struck out swimming strongly and steadily for a piece of wreckage, which I found to be a collapsible boat, and I had to rip the canvas with a knife before I could get it open. Another passenger climbed into it and together we were able to get about thirty out of the water." On the other hand: "Mr. A. G. Vanderbilt is not amongst the identified, and as he could not swim, it is feared that he perished." This tragedy was brought home to us very forcibly, but what about the many transports which have been, and at any time may be torpedoed, with thousands of our best and bravest men on board? In the face of all this, are we satisfied to let our boys go from here fully qualified and equipped to defend the Empire, but in an instance as above, not able to save themselves? I have served through two British campaigns and know that the duties of a soldier are many and varied, not the least of them having to ford a treacherous stream or look after yourself when a pontoon bridge suddenly gives way. In the interests of all, therefore, I am willing to do my small share, and shall be glad, Mr. Editor, if you will bring to the notice of the proper authorities that as an experienced swimmer and teacher, I am prepared to instruct in classes, free of charge, any soldiers and sailors wishing to learn to swim, on Saturday afternoons and Sunday mornings at the Gorge, or, if arrangements could be made with the Y.M.C.A., at their tank.

I apologize for the space encroached upon, but if this offer is accepted and only one man is taught to swim and so save himself or another, your paper will have served well.

Russians Sink Vessels

LONDON, May 17.—The Russian naval attache here announces that on May 15 the Russian Black Sea fleet destroyed four steamers, coal laden, two tugs and twenty sailing ships. He adds that much damage was done in the bombardment of Kefken, Eregli and Kilimala, on the Black Sea.

The Destiny of Men and Nations

Hon. Judge Rutherford, Investigator of First Causes, to Lecture in Royal Victoria Theatre Tuesday Evening, May 18th.

HON. J. F. RUTHERFORD
New York City Bar

In his lecture on the destiny of men and nations the Hon. J. F. Rutherford, the well-known layman, lawyer, lecturer, will deal especially with the war, its cause and final outcome.

This is the question of the hour as many nations are now at war and the financial and business conditions of every country on earth are greatly disturbed. Many are seeking to know the cause, what will be the result and what will follow after. Mr. Rutherford, who is known throughout the English-speaking world as amongst the ablest Bible lecturers, holds that the Bible long ago foretold present conditions and likewise set forth the immediate result and final destiny of nations and men. For several years he has traveled extensively in the various countries of Europe, Asia and Africa and has gained wide-spread reputation as an investigator of first causes. He handled his subject from a lawyer's viewpoint, using the Bible as an authority.

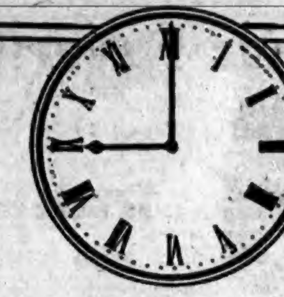

His travels and investigations extend to every nation in Europe, while his recent return from the war zone renders his subject all the more interesting.

In many cities thousands have been unable to gain entrance to the auditorium where he was lecturing. In Los Angeles a few weeks ago it is estimated over 5,000 people thus failed to gain entrance. The doors open at 7:30, lecture commencing at 8. Admission is free.

Take a little

Sanatogen

every morning

and you will feel fit and fresh every hour of the day.

Do you ever find yourself "watching the clock," letting your mind stray from your work?—

Wishing it was lunch-time . . . tea-time . . . time to "knock-off" . . . time for bed?

You will not feel like that if you take Sanatogen every morning—you will be too full of nerve-energy to feel fagged or listless.

For Sanatogen produces a wonderful increase in nerve-energy without stimulation, reaction, or other ill effects! (See Proceedings of the International Medical Congress, 1906.)

This increased nerve-energy keeps your brain (and other vital organs) in vigorous health; enables you to work at high pressure with ease and enjoyment; makes you keen, high-spirited, enthusiastic.

Try it for a time—just two tea-spoonfuls of Sanatogen once a day, but regularly.

"Sanatogen gives one the energy to do twice as much work, twice as well."

So writes Mr. Cosmo Hamilton, the well-known novelist and dramatist. Still more remarkable is the experience of Madame Sarah Grand, who says: "Sanatogen has enabled me to do as much work in one week as I used to do in six, and without suffering afterwards from the extra strain."

Another eminent novelist, Mr. Horace Hazeltine, says: "Since I took my first cup of Sanatogen, there has been a day-by-day gain in activity and energy. Never have I approached the day's labour with such zeal, with such enthusiasm."

Take Sanatogen every morning, with or after breakfast, and you will soon be conscious of a steady improvement in your health, and a great increase in your powers of work. Do not imagine that these effects are due to stimulation: your own doctor will tell you that Sanatogen is not a drug or a stimulant, but a food, and that it is entirely without reaction or other ill effects.

Write for a Free Booklet, "How to Live Healthily," which will be sent, post free, if you mention this paper when writing. Address: A. Wulfing & Co., P.O. Box 2622, Montreal. All Druggists sell Sanatogen, from $1.00 to $3.60 per tin.

Is it not time that you took Sanatogen?

——Start using it To-day.——

WORK POINT GAME WAS BEST OF DAY

Excellent Cricket Seen in Saturday's Match, Albions Versus Garrison—Fine Performance by Askey.

Below is the full score of the match played on Saturday between the Garrison and Albion cricket clubs, which resulted in a win for the former by 215 to 137. E. W. Ismay played a fine innings for the losers, and notable contributions were made by Hudson and Orr, but the Garrison were in irresistible form, no fewer than seven of their side getting into double figures. Lieut. Marshall and H. H. Pegler each gave a fine display with the bat, and some fine free hitting was seen.

Askey was the star of the match. It was certainly his day out, as he put together a fine score of 47 with the bat, and took eight of the Albion wickets for 65, a splendid all-round performance. Sparks bore the brunt of the bowling for the Albions, and his 4 for 58 was a good achievement against such a strong side. The score:

Last Badminton Match

The Badminton Club, which has spent many pleasant evenings since Christmas playing at the Y.W.C.A. court, played the final matches on Friday evening last, scoring 99 for the fours and 58 for the eights. Afterwards the ladies, with several of their gentlemen friends, were treated to refreshments in the tea room, where a jolly hour was spent. The Y.W.C.A. court is becoming very popular, and it is anticipated that many more such clubs will take advantage of the coming season.

Civic Service A. A.

The Civic Service Athletic Association will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the City Hall.

Vancouver Dog Show

VANCOUVER, May 17.—Entries for the Terminal City Kennel Club's annual show, which will be held on May 24 and 5, closed tonight. It was originally intended to close the lists Saturday, but the officials received information that a number of entries were coming from Victoria and Seattle, and it was then decided to extend the closing time until Monday night. C. K. C. officers stated that it was expected that the show would be a five-point affair. This means that 300 dogs must be benched and it is believed that this number will be exceeded. Dogs of the highest quality will be exhibited.

Also Track Meet

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 17.—Yale defeated Harvard in the annual dual track meet, 86 to 46. Two dual records were broken. Wilcox, of Harvard, did the quarter-mile in 48 seconds, lowering the previous record by two-fifths of a second and equalling the intercollegiate record. Overton, of Yale, set up a new dual record in the two-mile run, going the distance in 9.24 1-5, clipping two-fifths of a second from the previous record, which he himself held. Harvard protested the meet on the ground that W. F. Ross, who won first place for Yale in the shotput, was ineligible.

LAST DAY TO ENTER FOR MOTOR RACES

Crack Professional and Amateur Riders Are Booked to Race at the Willows This Week-End.

Today is the last day for entries for the big motor meet to be held at the Willows on May 22 and 24.

Judging from those already in, there are going to be some fine struggles for the honors in the different events in in the programme of both motor-bike and motor car races.

The promoters were busy all yesterday trying to get entries from two fast riders from Seattle, both professionals, and they will receive word today whether those two will be here for the big meet.

There is a big list in of Vancouver riders, including Allan Ross, Sandy Bennett, G. McKeown, among the professionals, and K. Craig, C. H. Edwards and C. Rayner, from the amateur ranks.

The track is in the best possible condition, and the riders have been making some very fast times in practice, Joe Markat speeding over the half-mile lap in 34 2-5 seconds yesterday, which is an excellent indication of the fine condition of the surface for racing. The promoters are working hard to make this meet a noteworthy success, and they certainly deserve all the luck they can get. They have left nothing undone to get together the best possible assemblage of riders and drivers, and, so far, have been eminently successful, so that it is safe to guarantee that the sport provided on this two-day meet will be far better than anything of the kind ever seen in Victoria before.

Boat Race Won by Yale

Princeton was third, two and three-quarters lengths behind Cornell.

Rainfall Report Forwarded

OTTAWA, May 17.—The Militia Department reports that there is no truth in the report sent out last Friday from Vancouver that an attempt was made by a party of raiders from Washington State to destroy the Pacific cable station at Bamfield, on Vancouver Island. A shot was fired in the vicinity of the station early on Friday morning, presumably at a sentry, but no trace has been found of the person who fired the shot. A strong military guard at the station has taken steps precautionary to frustrate any attempt to cut the cable.

WARSHIPS ARE BOMBARDING CITY

Over 100 Persons Are Killed in Lisbon — President of the Portuguese Cabinet Is Assassinated.

MADRID, May 17 (via Paris).—Fighting in Lisbon has begun again, according to the latest news reaching Badajoz.

The warships are bombarding the city. Over 100 persons have been killed, including several Spaniards.

The Spanish warships Espana and Rio de Rapata and a Spanish torpedo-boat have arrived at Lisbon.

MADRID, May 18.—Joao Chagas, President of the Portuguese Cabinet, who was shot in a train while traveling from Oporto to Lisbon, died of his wounds, according to the latest reports reaching here from Lisbon.

GERMAN PRESS ON U. S. NOTE

Declaration Is Made That Germany Will Not Abandon Pirate Methods—Lusitania Called Auxiliary Cruiser.

BERLIN, May 17.—The American note to Germany has not yet been officially given out. The afternoon papers, however, print the version of the document as telegraphed here by the Havas Agency. With the single exception of The Lokal Anzeiger, all refrain from commenting. The Lokal Anzeiger says:

"The German Government certainly will not delay long with the answer requested, and probably will reply that in occupying itself with its 'sacred duties' it is not to be disturbed from any side.

"That the American Government should consider the Lusitania as a harmless packet, without taking note of the fact that it was really an auxiliary cruiser and an ammunition steamer of the British navy appears to us scarcely believable. But the German answer to Washington will make it comprehensible to Mr. Wilson, in language as polite as it will be clear, that we must conduct the war as we are conducting it, and can conduct it with a clear conscience."

The Taglisch Rundschau, commenting on the reports that the Lusitania incident has caused a "growing insight" in America, says:

"This insight probably will lead to the discovery that England really is the guilty party, because it took ammunition on board a passenger ship in contravention of the American laws."

After quoting the statute which it argues covers the point, The Taglisch Rundschau concludes: "According to the American laws the captain of the Lusitania ought to go to prison."

United States Pivoted

The London Daily Mail quotes from Der Tag the following article by Herr von Rath, who is described as a favorite spokesman of the Wilhelmstrasse:

"President Wilson is very much troubled by the drowning of so many American citizens, and we Germans sincerely share his feeling. But we see it, the Lusitania affair out of the many cruel necessities which the struggle for existence brings with it.

"If, as English reports try to make us believe, Mr. Wilson is now meditating revenge, we will not disturb him in his occupation, but would only hope that its demands will be addressed to the right and not to the wrong quarters.

"The right address is England. On the German side everything was done to warn American travelers from the impending peril, while British irresponsibility nullified the effect of the German admonition.

"Mr. Wilson is certainly in a precarious position. After showing himself weak in the face of the long and ruthless British provocations he has to play the strong man with Germany. Otherwise he will lose the prestige he has left, and knows that in the background the pretender to the throne, Mr. Roosevelt, is lurking.

"But what are the gallant shouters in the United States thinking about? Would the United States send troops to take part in the fighting in Flanders. The gigantic losses of their Canadian neighbors should not exactly encourage them from a military standpoint. Moreover, the United States is so weak that it has never been able to impose its will on Mexico, or do anything to the still more unpleasant Japanese than to clench its fists in its pockets."

VICTORIA DAY PARADE

Massive Organized Celebration to Be Held on May 24

NANAIMO, B. C., May 17.—One of the main features of the coming May 24 celebration will be the parade, which is likely to be a unique event for this city. The committee in charge of this section is composed of Messrs. R. Kaplansky, George A. Beattie, Wm. Sampson and Warren Hygh, supported by a number of prominent business men, who propose to put decorated floats in the procession.

The parade will form on Front Street, between the Court House and the post office, at 10 o'clock sharp, and will proceed down Commercial Street and Victoria Crescent to Nicol Street, along Nicol Street to Milton Street, along Milton Street to Comox Road, down Comox Road to Front Street, and along Front Street to point of commencement.

FRENCH WIN IN DESPERATE FIGHT

Storming of Neuville St. Vaast Is Described by Official Eye-Witness—Way Paved by Heavy Bombardment.

PARIS, May 17.—The official eye-witness with the French army gives a description of the attack on Neuville St. Vaast:

"From 4 to 10 o'clock in the morning of May 9," he says, "the artillery prepared for the infantry attack with thousands of projectiles. Nearly every one of these going home, the enemy was demoralized. At 10 o'clock, according to a prearranged signal, our infantry, massed in the rear, leaped out of the trenches without further orders. Barbed wire, as thick as a man's finger, protecting the enemy's works, had been annihilated by our fire. Bridges prepared in advance for crossing the trenches were thrown aside in the ardor of the assault, the men leaping across the gaps and rushing to the crest of the hill separating them from La Targette without flinching under a heavy rifle fire and machine gun fire. The Germans, astonished at our assault, seemed nailed to the spot, and when the two forces came into contact only those machine guns which were in protected positions continued to fire. They were, however, unable to check the advance of our men, who rushed the houses in La Targette. There hand-to-hand fighting in the streets and orchards ensued and our advance was somewhat stayed. But the town was soon surrounded. Fighting their way the French troops finally reached the first house of Neuville St. Vaast.

Fight Among Tombs

"At the same time our attacking forces on the centre were battling with the same spirit across the road to Bethune. Among the tombs in the cemetery a desperate engagement ensued. This territory was twice taken and twice lost, but we held the ground in the neighborhood, capturing five lines of trenches and then digging in. All this took place within two and a half hours.

"While the men stopped to rest the artillery came up in the rear and with the same precision as in manoeuvres, although under a heavy machine gun fire, placed their pieces and opened on the enemy.

"Startled by cries, our men discovered a detachment of German cavalry in concealment with seven 3-inch guns and 500 shells. They were taken prisoners and sent to the rear. There were German dead everywhere in the trenches, and while the infantry was finishing the destructive work of the artillery piles of dead were gathered and buried.

Cellar Fortifications

"In the succeeding days our effort was directed at conquering Neuville. Here the large, deep cellars of the houses were not sufficient for the enemy's fortifications. They covered the top of the cellars with material three feet thick and dug new shelters in the cellars themselves, strongly protected, to which they fled during the bombardment. From one end of the village to the other these cellars were connected by underground passageways, through which the Germans circulated, rising up like woodchucks here and there where least expected. Every house was armed with machine guns in these reinforced shelters, but in the face of these defenses from Monday to Friday our infantry continued the assault without cessation.

"On Saturday at nightfall we held the progress we had made outside the place greater part of the village, and the resultant in strengthening our position.

"During the night of May 11 violent counter-attacks occurred to the east of the village. Our troops allowed the enemy to advance to within twenty yards of their trenches and then the machine guns and rifles mowed down the enemy. Then the infantry, leaping out of the cemetery in pitch darkness, threw themselves upon the remaining force of the Germans, and those who were not bayoneted were brought in prisoners."

Hospital Units Arrive

MONTREAL, May 17. — Cable dispatches were received by Mrs. H. S. Birkett, Principal Peterson, of McGill, and others, announcing the safe arrival in England of the vessel which carried the McGill General Hospital, the Laval Base Hospital and other units. The vessel which carried these corps from Montreal made a rapid passage and landed them at a port on the south coast of England without any difficulty from submarines. The McGill Hospital unit was about 300 strong, including officers, rank and file and nurses, under Col. H. S. Birkett, while the Laval Hospital unit was nearly 100 strong, under Lieut.-Col. A. E. Mignault.

STOCK MARKET DULL AND UNINTERESTING

More Important Financial Interests Stick to Policy of Conservatism—War Stocks Subject to Many Changes.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The undertone and general aspects of today's market was very dull and uninteresting. Bankers and others in high places maintained their policy of conservatism, and the market was left entirely to the devices of the professional element.

Prices rose vigorously at the outset, receded fractionally soon after, and fell again, but were firm at the close. War stocks manifested more than their usual variable tendencies, gaining 3 to 7 points in the first hour, but declining later on slight offerings.

Aside from advices to the effect that the Lusitania disaster has temporarily checked new business in finished steel, general news was encouraging. Leaders in commercial lines expressed a moderate degree of optimism, on the crop outlook.

Time money ruled at last week's high quotations, despite the favorable bank statement. Foreign exchange was weaker on limited dealings, francs and lires being especially unsteady.

Bonds were strong but featureless. Total sales (par value), $1,000,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.
